March 18 Vote To Foretell Twp. Control

Antioch Township voters are expected to play a pivotal role in two key contests in the March 18 primary.

How Antioch Republicans vote could be a major determining factor in the outcome of the clash between two women running for the nomination for county clerk and selecting two nominees for County Board Dist. 4 representative.

The outcome of both races could determine the township Republican leadership for the next two years and beyond.

Officially, Antioch GOP committeemen rated both Dist. 4 Rep. Donna-Mae Nix Litwiler of Ingleside and Wauconda Village Clerk Venetia McConnell as "qualified" when endorsement voting failed to produce a conclusive two-thirds majority.

However, Township GOP Chairman Charles "Chuck" Kempf personally is backing McConnell to the displeasure of Republicans following the lead of Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox, who is backing Litwiler.

One township Republican leader, who asked that his name not be used, told a reporter for the Antioch News-Reporter, "Kempf is through as chairman. He'll find out after the primary."

By statute, political parties reorganize after the primary election. Township precinct committeemen will select their chairman for the next two years at that time.

Antioch is being looked up as a "swing" area by six candidates for the two nominations from Dist. 4 which includes Grant, Avon and Lake Villa townships.

GOP precinct committeemen voted to back Charlotte Kiesgen of Fox Lake and Pat Anderson of Grayslake, over two local entrants, Ray Edwards of Antioch and Joseph Tobolik, who formerly resided in Antioch Township and now makes his home in Ingleside.

Incumbent Dist. 4 Rep. Norman Geary of Grayslake says he is going to make a determined bid for Antioch's Republican (Continued on Page 10A)

Parent Survey Says: More Home Work

by CHRIS SPECHT

Antioch Community School District 34 reviewed the results of a two year management survey of their district at their board meeting on Feb. 18.

The survey was conducted by Fred Genck, a member of the Lake Forest Board of Education, part owner of the Institute of Public Management, with a MBA from Harvard University.

The survey was conducted in four parts. There was a teacher survey, interviews with teachers, interviews with parents, and a parent survey.

The survey concluded that the district was highly cost effective and student achievement was exceptionally high. The survey also concluded that Teacher morale was high and that the teachers of the district focused on the needs of the students.

The feeling of the parents in the district was measured by sending a questionnaire to every parent in the district. There was a 29 (Continued on Page 3A)

Mount Prospect Man Suffers Fatal Crash

A 23-year-old Mount Prospect man was killed on Feb. 22 when his snowmobile crashed into a partially concealed duck blind about 900 feet off the shore of Fox Lake near Indian Point.

John H. Thomsen was traveling south west on the surface of Fox Lake when his snowmobile struck a duck blind at approximately 9:30 p.m. Thomsen was discovered by another snowmobiler and taken to a nearby home on Bolten Place Rd.

The Antioch Rescue Squad was summoned who arrived to find Thomsen in "severely critical" condition. Rescue squad members said that their initial assessment of Thomsen was that he had suffered massive head and chest injuries as well as multiple fractures to the extremities and probable internal injuries.

After trying unsuccessfully to revive Thomsen the Antioch Rescue Squad took him to Victory Memorial Hospital where resuscitation was continued for 10 to 15 minutes before he was pronounced dead. At least one Antioch resident has complained of similar problems with duck blinds (Continued on Page 10A)

Error Made

A story on the Liberty Retreat which ran in the Feb. 13 issue of the Antioch News-Reporter read in part: "Ewing also said that one of the horses had starved to the point where Ewing decided to dispatch the ailing animal with a sledge hammer." The article was supposed to have said that J. R. Baker was the one who used the sledge hammer, not Ewing. Charges have been filed against Baker for the sledge hammer incident by the Department of Agriculture. The Illinois Hoofed Animal Society does not euthinize animals without a veterinarian being present. The News-Reporter regrets any misconceptions the article may have caused.

Horak Could Lose Stock

U.S. District Court Judge Charles R. Norgle Sr. will decide whether or not Jon Horak will have to forfeit $2.5 million in Waste Management Inc. stock.

Horak was found guilty on 37 counts of mail fraud and one count of racketeering on Feb. 14. He faces maximum jail term of 185 years and a fine of $37,000 for the mail fraud charges and 20 years plus a fine of $25,000 for the racketeering charge.

Sentencing is scheduled for March 13, and Norgle said that he will make his decision regarding the stocks after he receives written statements from prosecuting and defense attorneys.

U.S. Attorney Anton Valukas is pursuing the forfeiture of the stock under provisions of anti-racketeering laws.

Klemm Sponsors Animal Abuse Law

A few months ago, Rep. Dick Klemm (R-63rd) heard about the plight of a dog whose owner kept the animal on an 18-inch chain, just long enough to allow the animal to reach its food and water dishes.

Questioning how anyone could be so cruel to an animal, whether through carelessness or not realizing the consequences, Klemm cosponsored legislation to see that those who abuse our animal friends are punished.

The new law, which took effect January first, stiffens the penalties for those convicted of knowingly and cruelly treating or abandoning an animal. Until this year, such abuse was a petty offense, punishable by a fine. Now, under the new law, a first offense is a Class C misdemeanor, punishable by up to 30 days in jail, a year on probation, and/or a fine of up to $500. A repeat offender could be sentenced to six months in jail, one year probation and/or a fine of up to $500. Conviction for a third time is a Class A misdemeanor, carrying a fine of up to $1,000, a year probation, and/or under a of a Class A misdemeanor. Repeat offenders face even stiffer penalties. Guilty of a Class 4 felony, they can be sentenced to one to six years in prison, up to 30 months probation and fines of up to $10,000.

Dogfight promoters and handlers are subject to even stiffer penalties. In these cases, first offenders may be found guilty of a Class 4 felony and fined up to $50,000. Subsequent offenses are Class 3 felonies, increasing the possible prison term to a length of from two to ten years. Those who manufacture equipment for such fights, provide the site for the fight, and even those who attend these bloody displays may also be convicted, fined and sentenced under Illinois law.

Klemm urged those who know of a case of possible animal abuse to contact their local humane society, animal protective league or law enforcement officials. Once a case is reported, animal investigators are authorized to check into the complaint and, if warranted, issue warnings to the pet's owner. If follow-up visits find that the animal is being mistreated, authorities can remove the animal from the owner, placing it elsewhere until a permanent home is found.

Domestic animals and pets trust their owners and look to them for care and affection. According to Klemm, these strong penalties should help keep cruel and insensitive owners and handlers from breaking that bond of trust.

This conference will be an opportunity for the Lake County business community to explore the programs offered by the I.M.C. that can contribute to the productivity and profitability of their businesses.

German Mardi Gras

The Polidors, a German band from Chicago played for The German American Club of Antioch's 'Faschings Dance', a German version of 'Mardi Gras', held at the Antioch Country House. This is the third 'Faschings Dance' that the club has held since it was started in 1978. Walter and Ursula Hartge were crowned as the Prince and Princess of the dance.

Village Plans Street Resurfacing Project

Antioch' seven year program of resurfacing village streets will continue this year and may involve as many as nine different streets in different areas of the village.

According to Tim Wells, of the Antioch Public Works department, the streets under consideration are Spafford St., Hardin St., Highland Ave., Williams St., Corona Ave., Parkway Ave., Wilton St., Valleyview Ct., and Hillandale Dr. The village is also planning to provide asphalt for a parking lot on Main St. which is being planned by Antioch Redevelopment Commission.

Wells said the village plans to use about 3400 tons of asphalt to provide a two inch overlay to all of the villages streets. Last year the village used 2700 tons of asphalt at a cost of $80,000, this year the cost maybe closer to $100,000.

Although the projected price for the work is $100,000 village clerk Marilyn Sterbenz pointed out that this could be subject to change once bids for the work are taken.

"If we do all of the work that we plan to do, and the bids come in at the price we expect then it will be around this price," explained Sterbenz, "but right now, there are too many variables that can affect the final amount."

Other improvement projects for 1986 include the installation of traffic lights at Rt. 83 and North Ave., which should be completed by July 15. The Illinois Department of Transportation will also upgrade a railroad crossing on North Ave. in conjunction with the Soo Line.

percent return rate on the survey which, according to Superintendent Donald Skidmore, is a high for this type of survey. The results of the survey indicated that were pleased with the districts schools, programs, and teaching staff, but that there were some areas of concern.

These areas included the desire for a districtwide, consistent home work program, and more home work being assigned to students. The parents also expressed a desire to know in greater detail the type of curriculum being taught by the district. The board addressed this particular problem at their meeting.

The curriculum committee announced that they had completed work on their curriculum guides for grades K-5. Skidmore said that the guides would be a detailed synopsis of what the district taught, what they would use to teach it, what they expected the students to learn, and how they would evaluate the students progress.

The board also approved an increase in text book fees of 10 percent for the next school year. There has not been an increase in text books since the 1981-82 school year.

"I don't like raising fees, but I won't apologize for it," said Skidmore. "Printed materials cost money, it's that simple."

Athlete of the Week

Don Gunther, (center), has been selected as the 'Athlete of the Week', for the week ending Feb. 15, for his 38 points and 14 rebounds in two basketball victories over Warren and Zion-Benton High Schools. Wally Jazowski, (left), representing the State Bank of Antioch is presenting a check for $50 from the bank to the parent-teacher scholarship fund in Don's name as varsity coach Don Zeman looks on.

Operations Manager Lists Personnel Changes To Reduce County Spending

Hal Coxon, operations manager of WXLC-FM/WKRS-AM, has announced the following personnel changes at the station:

Charlene Nyren has been appointed music director of WXLC-FM and has also been officially moved into the Afternoon Drive slot on WXLC. Charlene has been a fulltime employee of WXLC since April 1, 1985, when she started as the Overnight Personality. Charlene will have primary responsibility for coordinating WXLC's music with station consultant

Burkhardt/Abrams/Douglas/Elliott and Associates, Inc. of Atlanta Ga.

Val Wallace has been appointed news director of WXLC-FM and WKRS-AM. Val has previous experience as a news director, joining WXLC/WKRS from WLRW-FM in Champaign, Ill. She received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Illinois in May, 1984.

Dave Labrecque joins the WXLC-FM on-air staff as a fulltime announcer/engineer and will begin his North

Metro radio career as the Overnight Personality on WXLC. Dave has worked weekends at WXLC for the past few months and brings his unique personality to his new position at the station.

Coxon went on to say that he was pleased with all the additions. "This marks another significant step in our continued commitment to upgrade the sound and quality of our programming on both WXLC and WKRS." According to Coxon, these recent changes solidify the air staff "for the foreseeable future."

Dist. 4 Candidate Ready To Reduce County Spending

William "Bill" Mestan of Fox Lake, Republican County Board candidate in Dist. 4, insists that the board "must be prepared to reduce all non-essential spending" in anticipation of federal government budget cuts.

If the federal government is to succeed in balancing the national budget, Mestan observed, the amount of funding it can be expected to provide to counties and other local governments will be reduced accordingly.

The Lake County Board, Mestan emphasized, "must learn to say no to self-serving political interests by focusing its attention on what it can do to keep county government functioning smoothly for everyone's benefit."

In reference to his years as a successful businessman, from which he is now retired, Mestan described himself as a "financially conservative person." He plans to apply the "principals that guided me so successfully in my previous career" in helping to manage the Lake County Budget, and to the votes he will cast on all funding allocations.

It is only natural, Mestan said, that as a County Board member representing the interests of residents in Dist. 4 and throughout Lake County, "I will support the growth of more responsible government by helping to forge a prudent fiscal planning and management policy to guide the county through the difficult years that may lay ahead."

Community Concert To Fete Big Bands

Big Band Hit Parade, fourth attraction in the five-concert series sponsored by Lake County Community Concert Assn., will perform Saturday, March 8, at 8 p.m. in Waukegan's West High School Auditorium, 2325 Brookside Ave.

The incomparable songs and sounds of the 1930s, 40s, 50s and 60s will be performed by the stars who made them hits.

Each era of entertainment features performers who go down in the annals of show business as "All-Time Greats". Some of the most memorable stars from the "Big Band Era" are brought together in the "Big Band Hit Parade," re-creating that timeless sound that can still set feet tapping and hearts beating.

Carmen Cavallaro, "The Poet of the Piano", first popularized such now-familiar classics as "Dancing in the Dark" and the soundtrack to "The Eddie Duchin Story". His popular radio program, best-selling recordings for Decca, and performances at leading nightclubs have made him an audience favorite for years.

June Valli, performing with husband Jimmy Merchant on saxophone, starred in the top-rated NBC-TV show "Lucky Strike Hit Parade" and scored a hit record with "Crying in the Chapel". She has shared the stage with such stars as Bob Hope, Johnny Carson and Andy Williams.

Herb Jeffries, former balladeer with the Duke Ellington Orchestra, is famous for his renditions of "Flamingo," "Basin Street Blues," and "Sophisticated Lady," among other Ellington standards.

Gene Krupa, the most celebrated drummer of all time, starred with the Benny Goodman Quartet and later with his own orchestra. The Gene Krupa Orchestra recreates the Krupa legend for a whole new generation to enjoy.

More than 100 campaign workers from throughout Lake County attended the annual membership campaign dinner Sunday at the Northern Chalet in Libertyville.

Featured speaker was Louise Goodman, representative from the New York office of Community Concerts and Columbia Artists Management.

She stated that membership applications are coming in at a rapid pace, and workers should make every effort to contact their prospects quickly to avoid disappointment, should the organization experience a quick sellout.

New memberships, as well as renewals will be sold in the lobby before this Saturday's concert as Lake County Community Concert Assn. launches its 34th subscription renewal drive.

The upcoming 1986-1987 season will feature the Slovak State Folk Ensemble; renowned jazz combo The Dukes of Dixieland, "A Christmas Carol" by The Broadway Marionettes; soprano Nancy Gustafson; and returning by popular demand, Toccatas and Flourishes-a cornet and organ duo; and The Roger Wagner Chorale.

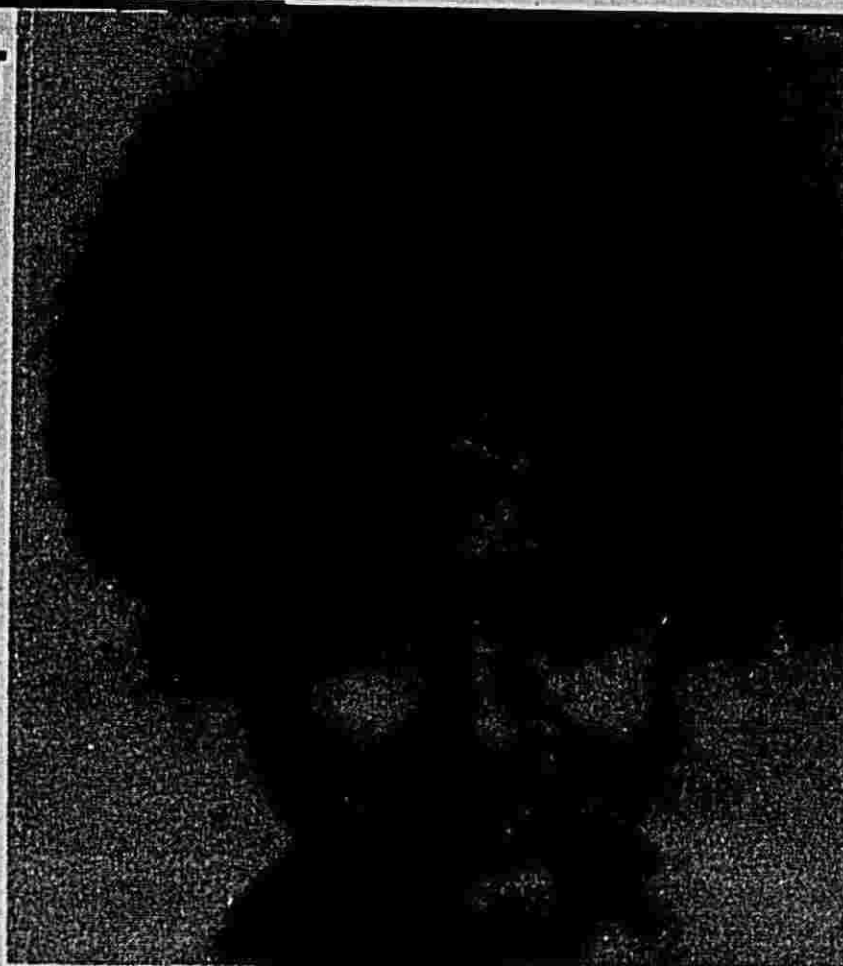

According to Goodman, memberships are available by season subscription only. No tickets to individual concerts are sold. Purchases will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis and cost $22 for adult memberships and $10 for students through high school age.

Concert dates will be announced when all arrangements are completed. All performances are held in the West Campus Auditorium of Waukegan West High School, 2325 Brookside Ave.

Membership requests should be addressed to the Lake County Community Concert Assn., Mrs. Walter Sorvari, Secretary, 914 Muirfield Ave., Waukegan, 60085, or phone her at (312) 623-3178.

That's a 50% growth, which presents a problem for local legislators to provide proper facilities for their boating constituents.

TRENDIES

Bertram Yachts, a long-time manufacturer of power yachts, currently has a line of yachts in the $30,000 26-footer up to $600,000 for the 58-footer. The emphasis this year, as we understand it, is to provide more horsepower and speed. Call Wesley Dickman at 305-633-8011.

On the subject of more speed, Ocean Yachts of Egg Harbor (NJ) is introducing a 40-foot Super Sport that should please the most serious bluewater fisherman — equipped with twin GM 671 T-1 diesels and a 480-gallon fuel tank that gets up into the 30 knot-plus speed range. Those interested in going fast in pure luxury contact Ralph Leek at 609-965-4616.

TURN KEY SAILING

If you think sailing a proper-sized cruiser entails a big investment, check out the new Hunter 23, a complete package of boat, motor and trailer for about $10,500 (mfr.'s suggested price). This is a turn-key package, including all required safety equipment, sails, battery, right down to a copy of the authoritative "Chapman's Piloting, Seamanship, and Small Boat Handling." Take a weekend course at a good sailing school, add some fuel and personal effects, and you're ready to go — to find out where you can see one call Dick Ash 904-462-3077.

votes by going directly to the people.

Geary is counting on support from the same forces that worked to put Mark Ring into office last year as Antioch Township highway commissioner, defeating Dave Health who ran with the support of Antioch Supervisor Jim Fields, who also is a Dist. 4 County Board representative and foe of Geary.

Thus the stage is set for a clash between Ring and Fields supporters.

Antioch political observers also expect that Mayor Ray Toft will have something to say about the County Board race. Toft is known to be dissatisfied with Fields' performance and could challenge Fields in the future.

Continuing to work closely with Grant Township Republicans as he has in the past, Fields will be supporting the party team of Anderson and Kiesgen.

The other candidate in the County Board race is William "Bill" Mestan, a retired Fox Lake restaurant and lounge operator, who is teaming with Geary.

Fields and Republican regulars have challenged Geary's party credentials, saying that he votes too much with the Democratic bloc on the County Board.

Geary has retorted by stressing his experience and qualifications, and has fired back a challenge of his own.

"Who has done more for the people and voters of Dist. 4 than Norm Geary? It certainly isn't Jim Fields," the veteran County Board leader declared.

Interestingly enough, Kempf is going with the township endorsement in backing Anderson and Kiesgen.

Fields was among a group of County Board Republican regulars who reportedly encouraged Anderson to seek a nomination.

Geary strategists feel that a strong vote in Antioch will win a nomination for their candidate since they expect to carry Avon, Lake Villa and neutralize Grant with Mestan's presence.

Conversely, Geary foes are looking for a solid front in Grant and Antioch to form a base to deny the long-time Grayslake leader victory.

Model Fashions

Ann Kakcek, of Antioch, one of the volunteer models at the benefit fashion show put on by the Lake County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, shows off one of the many ensembles on display at the show. The show was performed at Marriott Hotel in Lincolnshire on Feb. 23. About 800 people attended the show.

Fatal Crash:

in the Indian Point area in the past.

Don Fechtner said that three years ago his boat sustained $2200 worth of damage after hitting the submerged pilings of a duck blind that was cut off at the ice when removed. Although Fechtner called several area agencies including the Lake County Sheriff's Department, the Illinois Department of Transportation, the Fox Lake Police Department, the Illinois Department of Conservation, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, he said he was unable to determine who was responsible for the duck blind.

According to Fechtner, Thomsen struck a "thick piece of plywood that was concealed by grass. Fechtner said that there are about five such blinds in a row near Indian Point.

Fechtner feels that, stricter controls, which exist on other lakes, should be enforced on Fox Lake.

Fechtner is an experienced snowmobiler who was also out snowmobiling on the night of Feb. 22. He described visibility on that night as "marginal" and said that anyone who did not know the area may have had difficulty seeing the duck blinds. Fechtner feels that something must be done about these duck blinds before anyone else is injured or killed.

"The insurance company paid for my boat, and I paid the deductible, but now that someone has died I feel that something must be done," said Fechtner.

It remains to be seen whether or not anything will be done concerning this issue.

Mark Fennema Pleads No Contest To 6 Counts

Former Kenosha Municipal Judge Mark R. Fennema has pleaded no contest to six counts of embezzling $72,204 from clients of a law firm he once worked for, Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette announced.

Fennema, 36, is a Kenosha attorney who was reported missing by his wife on June 6, 1985. His car was found in a garage near Grant Park in Chicago about a week later.

Fennema was discovered in a Phoenix, Ariz., hospital after a one-car accident on Aug. 18. He waived extradition to Wisconsin in October of 1985.

The investigation was conducted by the Wisconsin Dept. of Justice's Division of Criminal Investigation and the Kenosha Police Dept.

The theft of client funds occurred from 1981 through May of 1985. According to charges, Fennema would settle personal injury actions by depositing clients' checks from insurance companies into his trust account and continue to tell the client the matter was still in litigation.

The state justice department agreed as part of the plea agreement that it would recommend that Fennema be sentenced to no more than five years in prison. The maximum penalties on all counts are 60 years in prison and $60,000 in fines.

Sentencing will be April 11 in Kenosha County Circuit Court. Fennema's no contest plea occurred Feb. 18 in Elkhorn before Walworth County Circuit Judge James Carlson.

Anderson Hits 40, To Celebrate March 1

"Life begins at Forty" will be the theme for a birthday celebration honoring Pat Anderson, Avon Twp. Highway Commissioner and County Board hopeful.

Anderson, a life-long Avon Twp. resident, is currently running for one of the two Dist. 4 County Board seats to be filled March 18.

Juli Chittenden, better known as "the Black and Blues Sister", will be on hand to help ease the pain of Pat's 40th birthday, as well as greet well-wishers and autograph posters.

The event will be held on Saturday, March 1, from 2 until 5 p.m., in the Tiffany Room at Lakes Bow, 601 W. Railroad, Round Lake.

Admission will be $5 and will include free beer, soft drinks and hors d'oeuvres. Birthday cake will also be served.

Everyone is invited to wish Pat well on his 40th birthday and talk with him about issues in the up-coming GOP primary election. Anderson states that "Tomorrow's future is in our hands and we as County Board members, have to make the right decisions today, thus ensuring quality life now and in the future.

Tickets for Anderson's 40th birthday party fundraiser can be purchased at the door, or by calling (312) 223-7442 or (312) 223-7679.

Hickman, of Mundelein, was part of a research team that investigated the nesting biology and behavior of birds on a small, uninhabited island that is part of the Canary Islands chain.

The lecture is part of the College Biology Seminar Series and is free and open to the public.

'Fighting' Geary Campaigns Hard

Veteran Lake County political leader Norman Geary is projecting a new "fighting image" as he battles for renomination as a candidate for County Board Dist. 4 representative.

Geary is seeking one of two Republican nominations from a GOP dominated district covering Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant and Avon townships.

"I'm down to my best fighting weight in years," Geary asserts to describe how he feels after recovering from Christmas Eve surgery to correct a heart problem.

The Avon Twp. supervisor and former County Board chairman lost 20 pounds as part of his recovery routine.

With the Republican precinct apparatus already on record in the four-township area as opposing him, the silver-haired county finance specialist is involved in one of the toughest battles of his more than 20 year involvement in county government.

"Yes, I'm fighting. I've learned over the years that to fight to get the right thing done."

"I'm fighting corruption. I'm fighting for the citizens of Dist. 4 and the people of Lake County," Geary avowed.

The resident of Grayslake has taken the position that the overriding issue in the March 18 primary in Dist. 4 is candidate qualifications.

The Lake County budget for 1986 is more than $100 million, and the complexity and responsibilities of county government are greater now than ever before. All of this, he predicted, will be further complicated when reduction of the federal budget begins to be felt at the state and county levels. Public service experience, proven ability to do things right, and specialized knowledge will be essential, Geary asserted, if the quality of government services is to be preserved and even improved in the face of tighter budgeting.

Justifying his qualifications for reelection, Geary referred to his record of more than 20 years as a productive member of the Lake County Board, 23 years as supervisor of Avon Township, and prior experience as a Grayslake Village Trustee.

Geary has served as County Board chairman and County Liquor Commissioner. He has been chairman of the Tax Board of Review, and is a Certified Illinois Assessing Officer. He has served as chairman of the Health, Education and Welfare Committee, and on two separate occasions was a member of the Lake County Board of Health. He was chairman of the Community Development Commission for six years, and is currently a member of that body.

Since 1980, Geary has been chairman of the powerful Finance and Administration Committee, which exerts more control over county financial management than any other Board committee or individual.

Just one other Dist. 4 candidate is qualified to represent local voters on the County Board, Geary believes. That person is William "Bill Mestan of Fox Lake, former owner of the popular Waltonian Restaurant. Geary and Mestan are campaigning as a team.

Mestan bought the Waltonian in 1958 and developed it into one of the area's most successful restaurants. "That was an achievement which required hard work, long hours and a great deal of solid business sense, all of which are necessary if a County Board member is to intelligently represent his constituents the way they deserve to be represented," Geary said. He added that "I feel very comfortable as Bill's running mate."

In the meantime, Geary does not hesitate to admit that local Republican party organizations have endorsed his and Mestan's opponents. He dismissed the importance of that, however, explaining that it was expected. "The good old boy Republicans who have traditionally tried to dominate District 4 politics and want people on the Board who will do as they're told," he said, and "there's little danger that our opponents would dare to do any thinking on their own."

Geary stated hotly: "I'm proud of my longtime reputation for being an independent Republican who is able to cooperate with Republicans and Democrats alike." That, he declared, is "the only way to get things done for the benefit of the people of Dist. 4 and everyone in Lake County."

Dear Neighbor:

In our last episode, we stated that as County Board members, we would stand on our heads to get the job done. What does this mean? What is it to be a County Board member? Is it to occupy time and space and talk about the same issues year after year? Though important these issues are part of normal day to day County Board business.

We feel that it takes more than this to be a GOOD County Board member. A County Board member should be concerned with the basic human needs of the people they represent. There are many county, state and federal agencies. In addition to many private organizations that have funds available to meet these needs, there is no reason why families should be cremated in their own homes because they cannot afford a new furnace or repairs, or to sleep in automobiles because they have no where else to go or a working person that cannot have medical attention because they have no insurance or the money to afford it. Why should Senior Citizens do without the necessities in life because they do not know who to contact or what to do?? Parents having a problem with a youngster, not knowing which way to turn. There are many, many problems that could be solved, if only knowing who to contact. This should be your County Board representative. If this person is not able to help you, then the job is not getting done.

We who belong to many civic and fraternal organizations that are dedicated to helping others, will understand the problems and the solution to many. Remember these agencies are funded by your tax dollar. It is your money, not charity.

We, who are known as the Laurel and Hardy of Lake County, are honored to be compared to such lovable people, that for many years have brought happiness and joy to millions of people throughout the world. In our small way, we hope to compare by making life a little brighter for the people we represent. As we stated, "We will stand on our heads to get the job done," and no clowning around!

On election day, this coming March 18th, we ask your support.

No. 1 Mess---Insurance

If liability insurance affordability and availability isn't the No. 1 problem in Illinois today, it is close to the top. The mess involving property and casualty insurance has reached crisis proportions. To his credit, Gov. James Thompson has identified the insurance crisis as his first business priority for the 1986 legislative session.

The topsy turvy situation has resulted in premiums skyrocketing as claims "go through the roof." Governmental units, business and private citizens all are in the same boat. When insurance is available, costs are prohibitive in many cases. Many small businesspersons are going to "self insurance," which often means no insurance at all. Clearly, something has to be done to avoid total chaos.

Basically, reform of the Illinois civil justice system is vital to restore order and sensibility. The governor is going to confront the insurance mess by pushing for changes in the state's tort system. Even his political enemies should applaud Thompson's stand on the insurance crisis.

It's time to do away with the "deep pocket" theory where plaintiffs are allowed to collect damages from the party who can best afford to pay. The system has been abused and belies good sense or fairness.

Defendants have to be protected from paying disproportionate awards. The law must provide ceilings on claim settlements.

At the same time it is calling for insurance reform, the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce rightly points out that any kind of a legislative "quick fix" will be dangerous. Overhaul of the civil justice system is paramount, not clamping down on rates or controlling the market place.

When premiums rise from 100 to 1,000 percent customers and taxpayers are bound to suffer. With an election year at hand, 1986 will be an excellent time to correct insurance problems. When citizens meet legislator on the campaign trail, their questions should include, "What are you doing about the insurance mess?"

Where Are The Rallies?

Two avowed political enemies, Robert "Bob" Depke of Warren Twp. and Norman Geary of Avon Twp., probably will be surprised to learn that they agree on something.

The two neighboring supervisors and candidates in the March 18 primary for nomination as County Board members both are lamenting the fact that things are unusually quiet so far for hotly contested elections and that there are few forums for candidates to air their views in the dwindling weeks before election day.

Depke mentioned that his schedule at the moment calls for only several public meetings that normally are not well-attended. Geary opined that the scant time before voters go to the polls allows no opportunity to discuss issues.

If time is short and public forums are few, what in the world will Depke, Geary and their fellow candidates be doing between now and March 18? If they want to win, they'd better be getting their individual teams organized and turned on because other than media mention, it is true that the political process doesn't provide much candidate discourse on serious issues. For all intensive purposes, the primary exercise to be conducted next month is a popularity contest and as such doesn't serve the purpose of shedding much light on what's going on and what is at stake.

Government would be better if provisions could be made for candidates to be put under the spotlight of public scrutiny at open meetings. As one organization with a vested interest in what's happening, the Republican party could exert greater responsibility in affording its candidates an opportunity to put their wares on public display other than having insiders pass out literature and buttonhole voters. How about some old-fashioned political rallies?

Essential Ingredient

From all sides, the reception to Waukegan's plans to develop the "French Riviera of the Midwest" at the Lake Michigan lakefront, has been enthusiastic. One of the reasons, perhaps, is that little or no local money will be spent for the project, and planners envision that federal aid being sought is a pittance.

Where the money is coming from for the proposed project estimated to cost $328 million, apparently is of minor concern. Suffice it to say that Mayor Robert Sabonjian "ain't whistle'n Dixie" and that the venture capital needed to transform the decaying lakefront will eventually materialize from somewhere.

Without a doubt, Sabonjian caught the fancy of a lot of folks with his description of turning a 78-acre site into expensive condominiums, a hotel and convention center, a maritime museum, more boat slips and a waterfront retail district with a nautical theme.

Even though the whole thing sounds a wee bit overblown--there even is talk about running cable cars from Sheridan Rd. to the water's edge--our point is not to ridicule the project. More power to Waukegan and Mayor Sabonjian.

What is significant is that once again, the essential ingredient for good times ahead is water. Lake County obviously was well-named. We've got big lakes and little lakes and dozens of bodies of water in between. The lakes were important in our past and no one can argue that the lakes won't be important in the future.

Even as Waukegan hopes to capitalize on one of its most precious resources, Lake Michigan, so can just about every other community in Lake County integrate a lake or a nearby body of water into plans for better living. We shouldn't ever forget that a lake is a key part of our future.

Letter To The Editor:

No Class

Editor:

You printed a letter from an Antioch resident. He referred to Grant Twp. in rather pejorative terms.

Antioch can rightfully boast many positive attributes. Many of the policies and programs of that community bear emulation.

I am the first to admit that we have many faults. However, I do not judge a person by his faults, but rather by what he is doing to correct them. Those with any knowledge realize that this is one community that is pulling together to create a town we can all be proud of.

At this time of reassessing and self-criticism, one thing that would make me angry is if a Fox Lake resident wrote such a letter exhibiting so little class.

Hard To Understand

Editor:

The many headlines and newspaper articles one reads today are a bit confusing.

AARP News Bulletin for February has two bold headlines one on top of the other that informs us seniors that No. 1 - "Many older Americans will benefit from House-passed tax-reform bill endorsed by Association," and directly below No. 2 - "Cuts required under Gramm-Rudman Act threaten programs many older persons rely on."

A total of 1,379 new pages from the House Ways and Means committee simplifying the Code? Further, the Lake Villa Record last week, "Trustees and Frayer agree to solution on sewage problem"...This week Mayor Frayer says, "Trustees butt out".

The Fire Dept./Rescue Squad squabble goes on and on and on. I hope that it will not develop into the famous Sears vs. U.S. Gov't-12 years of litigation and $20 million in legal fees. Sears is now contemplating suing the U.S. to recover the $20 million on the basis that the suit "was frivolous, and unwarranted".

The Dist. 4 Taxpayers Assn. should follow Sears and file suit to recover all the legal fees this Fire Dept./Rescue squabble has accumulated to date. I wonder if this would deter the "Let's Sue" syndrome? This suit can also be classified as "frivolous and unwarranted."

Smooth-As-Silk Dixon Dim On Thompson Ties

by JOHN STEINKE

U.S. Sen. Alan J. Dixon, an enormously popular Democrat, will be seeking his second six-year term in the 1986 elections. Dixon is the most successful vote-getter in Illinois history. Since he entered politics in 1948 as a Belleville police magistrate, his won-loss record is 27-0. Dixon has become widely-known because he has been in public office and politics for years: 12 as a state representative, eight as a state senator, six as a state treasurer, four as secretary of state and five as U.S. senator.

Dixon is a charming, affable, articulate politician. He has built a successful public career by projecting himself as a centrist, noncommittal, middle-of-the road politician.

Steinke On Politics

My late grandfather used to distrust this kind of politician. He would say: "The only thing in the middle of the road is a yellow stripe where the possums go to die." Two weeks ago, I had my first opportunity to converse with Sen. Dixon during an interview session with Lakeland Newspapers. Here are some samples of Dixon's commentaries.

1. POLITICAL COLLUSION: In political circles, it is common knowledge that Democratic Sen. Alan J. Dixon and Republican Gov. Jim Thompson are close personal friends. This relationship has fueled speculation that Gov. Thompson didn't recruit a strong GOP candidate to oppose Sen. Dixon's reelection bid. In exchange, the popular Senator would extend only lukewarm support to Adlai E. Stevenson III, Thompson's opponent in the November election. Dixon disputed this contention when he pointed out that Gov. Thompson had attempted to persuade Congressman Phil Crane to run for the U.S. Senate. Then I asked Sen. Dixon: "Do you think Jim Thompson has been a good governor?" Dixon replied: "I am not going to badmouth Jim Thompson. I am NOT critical of his administration nor the man." It certainly sounds to me like there is a Dixon-Thompson deal to facilitate their mutual reelection. What do you think, Bob Neal? You're a party purist.

2. HELP ILLINOIS: Dixon was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1980 when he crushed his GOP opponent, David C. O'Neal, by a 619,000-vote margin. During the campaign, Dixon promised that he would work for Illinois interests. He pledged that he would return our federal taxes from Washington in the form of contracts, grants, and projects. During our interview session with Sen. Dixon, I read some newspaper headlines and items to him documenting how our congressional delegation has failed to secure federal tax dollars for our state.

Here are some of the newspaper clippings that I read to the Senator: Illinois big loser in defense contracts; Illinois shortchanged by U.S.; State ranks last in the return of federal taxes; average federal tax bill up $267; Illinois' per capita burden of $3,190 ranks fifth highest. Then Publisher Bill Schroeder and myself reminded Sen. Dixon that Ex-Sen. Charles H. Percy was defeated for reelection in 1984 because the voters believed that he was preoccupied with global matters at the expense of Illinois concerns.

I said to Dixon: "Percy created the perception among Illinois voters that he was more concerned about Paris, France than Paris, Ill." Dixon commented: "I like that line. I think I'll use it." Then the Senator launched into a defense of his record. First, Dixon said: "I can't change the climate." He alluded to the fact that industry and business are migrating to the Sun Belt states of the South and the Far West. Second, the Senator blamed the Reagan administration. He asserted: "As long as President Reagan wants to increase defense spending by 16 percent and cut domestic programs, Illinois will be hurt." Finally, he complained that our state doesn't possess any major defense-related industries to attract military contracts. These are reasonable statements. But it still doesn't explain why candidate Dixon campaigned on the inflated platform that he could help Illinois in 1980. The climate was the same six years ago.

3. COMMITTEE ABSENTEEISM: Sen. Dixon was smooth as silk until I asked about his failure to attend most of the Senate Agriculture Committee hearings in 1983 and 1984. Sen. Dixon lobbied to get on the Agricultural Committee. Senate records confirm Dixon's high absenteeism over this two-year period. Farm problems are likely to be a sensitive issue in the Illinois elections because of an anticipated voter backlash from disgruntled farmers, who are struggling to keep their land. Dixon pointed out that he had compiled a 95.2 percent attendance record in the Senate in the five years since he was elected. Then Senator asserted that he had four committee assignments which often had conflicting hearings scheduled at the same time. Dixon claimed that the major farm legislation was drafted every five years. Thus, the Senate Agriculture Committee hearings are relatively unimportant during the interim period.

Then Sen. Dixon speculated: "It's the Mitch McConnell syndrome. The Republicans are trying to defeat me like they beat Walter Huddleston two years ago." Huddleston was a two-term Democratic Senator from Kentucky, who was defeated for reelection in 1984. Huddleston was a moderate, Dixon-styled Democrat, who was fully expected to win reelection. His opponent was an obscure Republican named Addison Mitchell "Mitch" McConnell. But McConnell's TV commercials convinced Kentuckians that Hud-Huddleston was an inattentive Senator with a chronic record of absenteeism.

The Republican candidate made much of the fact that Huddleston, the ranking Democrat on the Senate Agriculture Committee, had missed almost a quarter of that year's 300 roll-call votes. McConnell harped on the issue with a humorous, effective TV ad that purported to show a pack of baying bloodhounds tracking down Huddleston in various exotic locales around the country. The charge was baseless: Huddleston was present 94 percent of the time. But he failed to shake the scent of slacker that the ad sprayed over him, and McConnell won the election.

Sen. Dixon assured us that if the Republicans unleashed their bloodhounds to track him down across the TV screen, he would respond in kind. Dixon commented: "I am not going to repeat Huddleston's mistake. He never responded to 'Mitch' McConnell's TV commercials. I'll run an ad showing my dog and myself. We'll be saying that we have been in Washington the past six years serving the people of Illinois." Bow Wow! I want my 12 readers to be prepared for the battle of the canines in the U.S. Senate race this fall. With all the serious issues confronting Illinois and the country, we will be witnessing GOP bloodhounds baying at Alan and Checkers on the boob tube. I am almost ready to go out and buy a can of Alpo instead of voting for U.S. Senator on Nov. 6.

POSTSCRIPT: Coroner Barbara Richardson of Grayslake stopped in for a pleasant chat. She assured me that she wasn't part of any political machine. Mrs. Richardson stated that she was supporting Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Donna-Mae Litwiler of Ingleside for county clerk for personal reasons. Litwiler and Wauconda Village Clerk Venita L. McConnell are competing for the Republican nomination for Lake County Clerk in the March 18 primary.

Richardson asserts that her support of Litwiler was predicted on three factors. First, their deceased fathers were close personal friends. Second, the Coroner believes that Litwiler has been an effective County Board member for the past six years. Third, she assumes that Litwiler would be "a cooperative officeholder" with the other countywide officials.

To Hold Tea Feb. 28

On Feb. 28, Lake County Community Action Project's Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP of Lake County) will hold its annual Sweetheart Tea.

This tea is a recognition event held each year for active volunteers. The guest speaker for the occasion will be the Honorable Robert Sabonjian, mayor of the City of Waukegan.

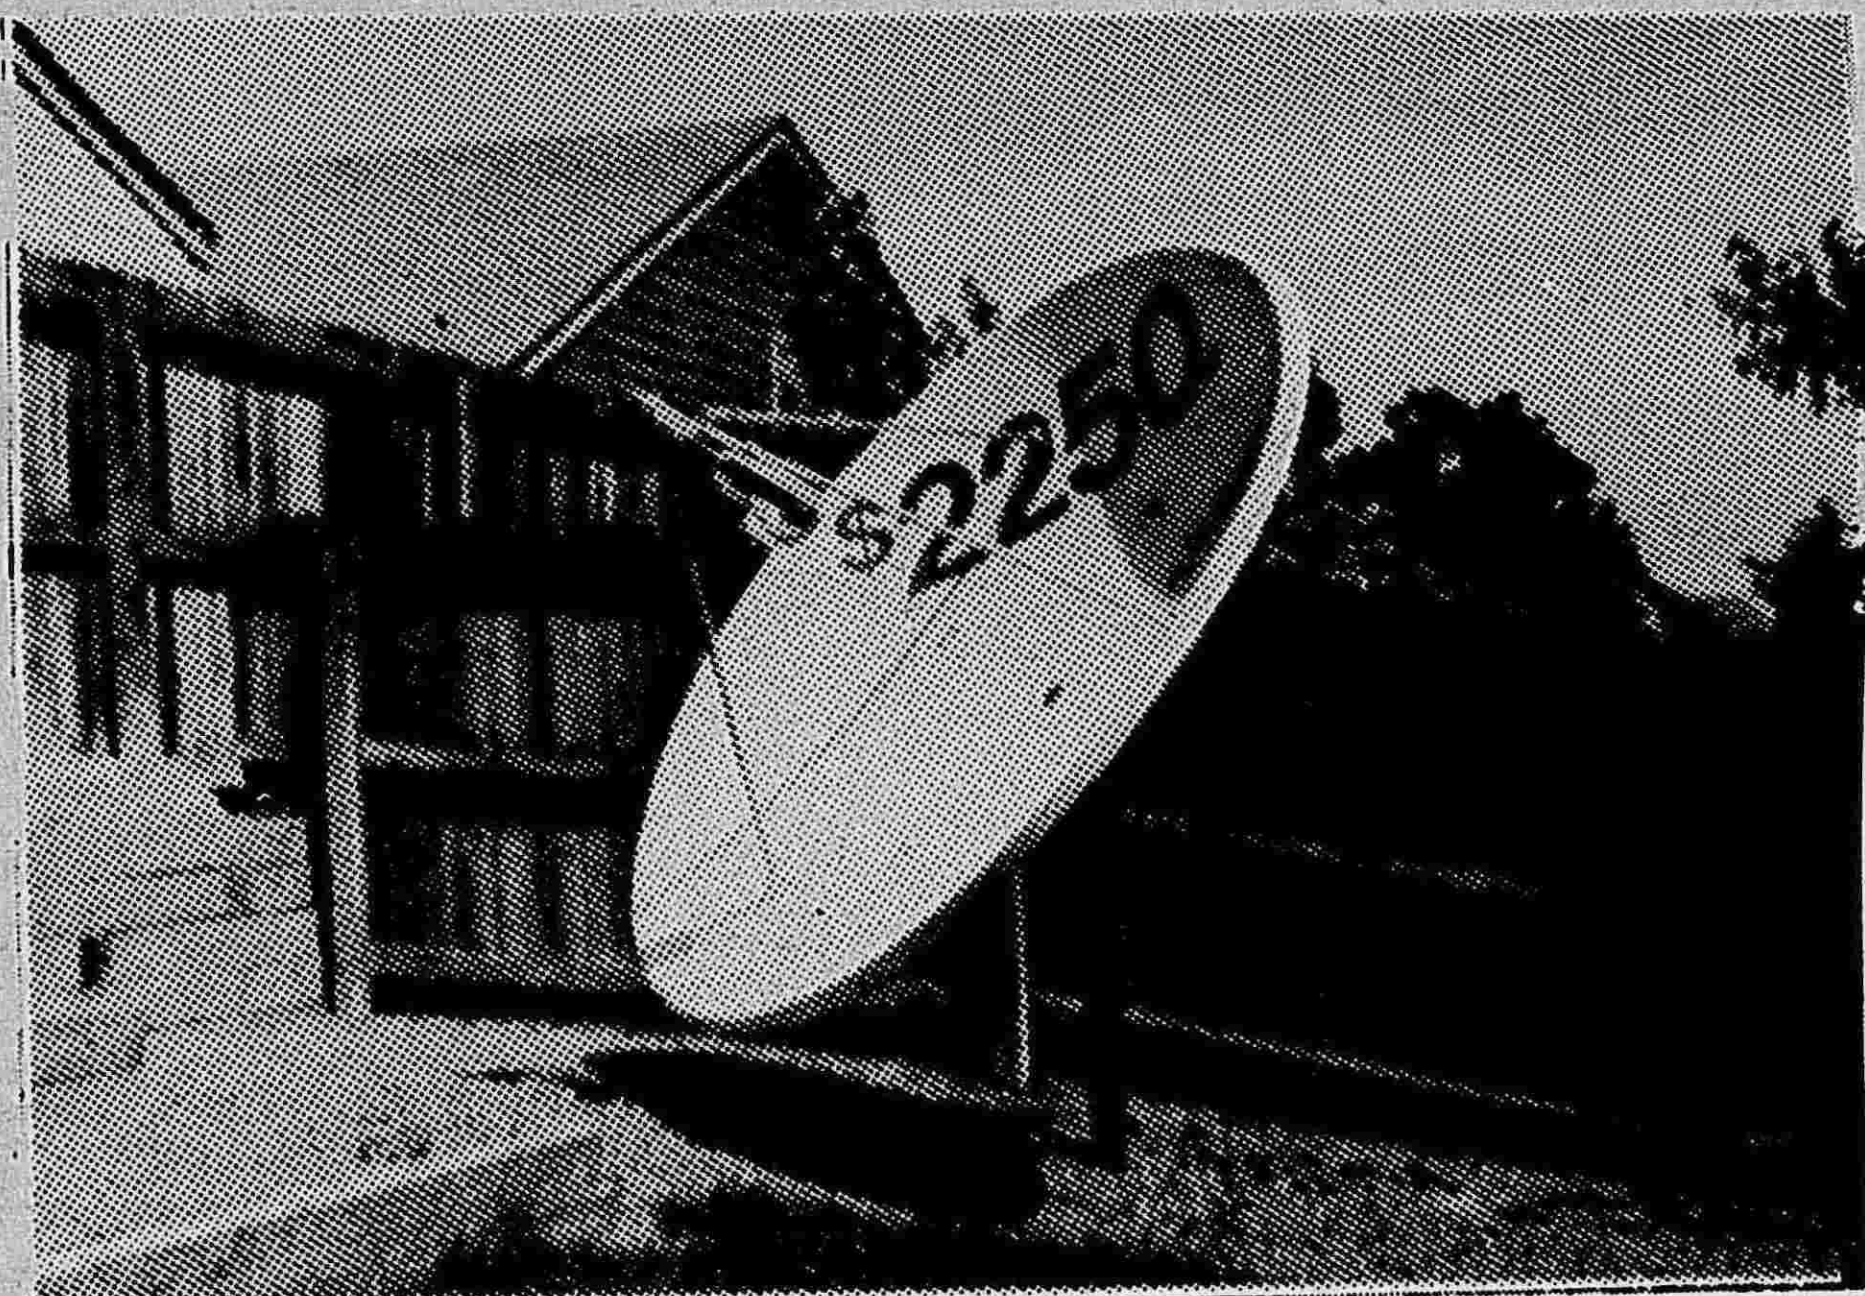

Last year alone, over 140 RSVP volunteers contributed over 22,375 hours to the Lake County area. RSVP Program Director Cathy Gates feels there is never enough you can do to recognize a person's donation of time to fellow man.

BUYING A HOME SATELLITE DISH IS COSTLIER THAN YOU THINK.

Before you spend your hard earned money on a satellite receive dish you should learn the facts.

This year popular premium services like HBO and Cinemax will begin scrambling their signals with highly sophisticated electronic encryption devices.

And this new technique won't be limited to just premium services. Many basic cable channels like ESPN, MTV and CNN have announced their intentions to scramble signals.

What does this mean for satellite dish owners?

In addition to paying several thousand dollars for the purchase and installation of a receive dish, it will be necessary to spend hundreds of dollars on descrambling equipment plus pay monthly service fees for each channel received.

Make your decision based on the facts.

Animals Killed For Cosmetic and Chemical Tests

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

I just came across some shocking news.

Did you know that cosmetics and household products are the cause of animals being poisoned and blinded during product testing?

Just to put a new nail polish remover, a drain cleaner, or a new improved product on the shelf, animals are being used for testing. It's not a life-saving matter for people, but still, between 500,000 and one million animals each year die to test cosmetics alone.

There are two common tests. One is the Draize Eye test. This is left from the 40's. It measures the irritancy of products that might get into a person's eyes.

Rabbits are used because their eyes do not produce tears like humans do. Usually six to nine albino rabbits are placed in stocks to prevent them from clawing their eyes to dislodge the substance. The lower lid of the eye is pulled away from the eyeball to form a small cup. In this cup is placed some milligrams of a substance to be tested. The eye is then held closed for several seconds. The rabbit screams in pain. After the eyes are observed at specific intervals to see how severe the irritation is, the rabbit is destroyed. The results are noted on charts in case of a lawsuit against manufacturers.

The second most common test is the LD 50 test. This has been used since the 1920's. It's a standard test for oral toxicity. Groups of up to 200 animals may be used for one test.

For example, the substance bleach, is force fed by mouth or through a tube inserted down the animal's throat. Sometimes, the tests are allowed to proceed for 14 days, if the animal lives that long.

Other forms of dosing include injection and forced inhalation.

Animals poisoned in these tests may have convulsions, vomiting, diarrhea, paralysis and bleeding from the eyes, nose or mouth. The animals that survive the tests are killed and examined.

These animals are not giving up their lives for human well being. Often results hold no comparison whatsoever to the effects of a substance on a human being. Where harmless to one animal species, it may cause serious side effects, birth defects, and even prove fatal to a human and vice-versa.

There are other ways to test these products.

Computers programmed with information from human experience can be used to measure acute toxicity.

Cell-culture systems can be used for both toxicity and eye irritancy toxicity.

However, many companies that make millions of dollars in profit each year are not willing to put even one percent of their net profits into developing, perfecting, or validating, non-animal testing methods. The law doesn't require these tests. Companies do the tests in an attempt to defend themselves in the event of a lawsuit.

There are some companies opposed to the use of animals in such cruel tests and they market their products without animal tests.

You can help make all the industries change.

Write your congressional representatives and ask them to support the Humane Product Testing Act (H.R. 1877). All representatives can be reached at the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Making And Sipping Soup--Hearty Winter Pleasures

I recall without fond memories, sipping soup from a canteen cup during winter maneuvers in West Germany.

Army outdoors was not my bowl of bouillon.

I always have been an indoors freak where winter is concerned. I took one vacation in January and spent most of the time inside, with a jacket on. It's uncomfortable to cook with too many clothes on.

It's not uncomfortable to sip soup.

If you don't want to prepare soup from scratch, you can always doctor the canned variety. I've done this with pretty satisfying results.

But I love to create. One of my favorite hearty soups features steak, vegetables and canned consommé. I got hold of the recipe years ago in Texas while on summer vacation.

Quickie Mexican Vegetable Soup

2 cans (19 oz.) Minestrone

1 can (4 oz.) green chilies, drained and cut up

1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2k avocado, cut in wedges

In large saucepan, combine soup, chilies and chili powder; heat through and serve in soup bowls. Top with avocado. Serves four to five.

Steak Soup

1 1/2 pounds round steak

1 1/2 cups butter

1 cup all-purpose flour

9 cans (10 1/2 oz.) beef consommé

1 can (1 lb.) whole tomatoes, drained

4 carrots, sliced

4 celery ribs, sliced

1 medium onion

1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Salt and black pepper to taste

1/2 pint whipping cream

Sour cream

Pilot Light
GREG MELIKOV

Trim fat from round steak; heat in large pot and discard. Cut meat in 1-inch squares; brown, remove and drain grease. Melt butter; blend with flour until smooth and return meat. Slowly stir in consommé; add tomatoes, carrots, celery, onion, Worcestershire, salt and pepper. Cook uncovered on medium low heat one hour, stirring occasionally, breaking up tomatoes. Stir in whipping cream during last 10 minutes. Top each serving with a dab of sour cream. Serves a crowd.

Wedding

Weichman/Gray

Julie Ann Weichman, Denver, Colo., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Weichman, Grayslake, and Joel J. Gray, also of Denver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Gray, Galesburg, were joined in marriage at 11 a.m., Dec. 28, by Dr. Roger L. Baumeister, at the United Protestant Church of Grayslake.

The bride was given away by her father at the double ring service.

She wore a Victorian gown of organza over taffeta with a high-necked bodice and bishop sleeves, adorned with Venice lace and pearls. The basque waistline fell to a cathedral-length train and was embellished with three tiers of delicate ruffles and re-embroidered chantilly lace. A cathedral-length veil was attached to a small cap of Venetian lace.

Maid of honor was Valerie Jones of Grayslake. Bridesmaids were Dawn Finlay, Vernon Hills; Mary Gray and Sonia Stewart, both of Galesburg and both sisters of the groom.

Groomsmen were Patrick Gray and Michael Gray, both of Galesburg and both brothers of the groom; and Bill Weichman, Grayslake, brother of the bride.

Ushers were David Huff, Clinton; John Wikoff, Peoria, and Matthew Contarino.

A reception at the Rustic Manor in Gurnee

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Gray was followed by a honeymoon trip to The Wagon Wheel in Rockton.

The couple will reside in Denver, Colo.

The bride is a 1984 graduate of Illinois State University and is employed by Pentax Camera Co. in Denver.

The groom is a 1984 graduate of Illinois State University, attends ILIFF School of Theology in Denver and is employed part-time for W.W. Grainger.

It's Not Always Good To Fill Out Sent Forms

The IRS has mailed out about 88 million tax forms to Americans over the past couple of months and, quite naturally, a lot of people will file their returns by simply filling out the forms the IRS sends. But that's not always a good idea, according to the Illinois CPA Society. In fact, it could cost you some money.

The IRS doesn't have a crystal ball to gaze into when determining which form to send a taxpayer. They simply send taxpayers the same forms filed last year. For someone whose financial situation changed over the past year, however, automatically filing the same form filed last year could be a costly mistake.

An obvious example is in the case of Hal, who purchased a home during 1985. Last year, Hal filed the short form 1040A because he had no big deductions. With the interest payments on his new home, however, it's a whole new picture.

Itemizing on the long form 1040 will take some of the teeth out of the 1985 tax bite for Hal. The mortgage interest and real estate tax deductions, which cannot be deducted on the short form 1040A that Hal filed last year, can be deducted on Schedule A of the long form 1040 to lower his 1985 tax bill. Clearly, he would make a mistake to blindly file the same form he filed last year.

According to the CPAs, correctly choosing among the three federal income tax forms—the 1040EZ, the short form 1040A and the long form 1040—is not that complicated. Here is the long and short on the forms to help you determine which is the right one for you.

THE 1040EZ. The EZ gets its name because it is the simplest of the forms. It can be used by single persons with no dependents and taxable income of less than $50,000. But those who are 65 or older should not use this form because it does not allow you to claim the extra exemption for senior citizens. In fact, the only deduction you can claim on the EZ is for charitable contributions. The EZ form has just 11 lines and the IRS claims that it takes minutes to fill it out. In spite of this, about 600,000 taxpayers last year hired preparers to fill out their EZs.

THE 1040A. This form, also known as the short form, can, like the EZ, be used only by those with taxable incomes of less than $50,000. But it allows those who do not itemize to claim certain deductions and credits that cannot be claimed on the EZ form.

For example, senior citizens can claim the extra exemption for those age 65 and older. In addition, three important deductions can be claimed on the 1040A: IRA contributions, charitable donations and a deduction for working married couples. So if you don't itemize, but want to deduct one of these three items, file the 1040A. Three tax credits that can sharply lower your tax bill—political contributions, child and dependent care expenses, and low-income earners—are also available to someone filing the short form 1040A.

THE 1040. This is the one that's called the long form. And it lives up to its name. Unlike the EZ and the short form, which are used to report only the most common deductions, credits and income sources, the long form is the required tax form in more than 35 different instances cited by the IRS. The chief reasons: You must use the long form if your taxable income totals $50,000 or more or if you want to itemize deductions.

In addition, IRS rules outline a myriad of other specific situations in which you are required to file with the 1040. These range from reporting the sale of a home to reporting taxable Social Security benefits. Basically, you know that you must file the 1040 if you want to claim adjustments, deductions or credits not available on the other two tax forms, or if you have a source of income that cannot be reported on the other forms.

If you have any questions about which form to file, contact the IRS or your local CPA.

Fifth in...a series of "tax tip" articles provided by the National Society of Public Accountants and their affiliated State Societies.

Q.—In 1984 my husband and I filed separate federal income tax returns. We have since discovered that we could have saved some taxes had we filed jointly. Is there anything we can do about it now?

A.—Yes, you may change to joint returns for 1984. Assuming you filed the original returns on time, you have until April 15, 1988, to make the change.

Q.—My husband died in 1984. I read somewhere that because I can claim our 12-year old child as a dependent, I can file a joint return for both 1985 and 1986. This seems too good to be true. Is it?

A.—It is not true. You cannot file a joint return for 1985 or 1986. However, because you have the dependent child, you are entitled to use the joint return rate tables for computing your tax in those years.

Q.—In 1979 we bought a store building and have successfully rented it ever since. We have had only one tenant in the building—and he has been a very good one. In 1985 the tenant approached us about remodeling the store front and adding a storage room on the rear of the store, which we did, at a cost of $25,000. We realize we can depreciate these improvements, but we are confused as to the number of years we can use to compute our depreciation. Incidentally, the additions were completed November 9, 1985. What is the proper number of years for writing off these improvements?

A.—Even though the original building was acquired before the accelerated cost recovery rules went into effect, the improvements were acquired after December 31, 1980. Had these improvements been acquired in 1982, the proper number of years for writing off the improvements would have been 15. However, Congress changed the law so that improvements made in 1985 must use an 18-year life.

Corsairs Hustle Past Joliet

Carmel's Corsairs set the stage for state tournament action by nailing down a first division finish in the tough North Suburban Catholic League and recording their 14th victory out of 25 contests.

The Corsairs made Joliet Catholic their eighth conference victim of the season in the season finale Friday night, Feb. 21, at home before a good sized Parents' Night crowd, 65-52.

They did it the way the Corsairs have played all season—lots of hustle, good defense and enough scoring punch to do the job.

Coach Frank Belmont can be proud of his 1985-86 Corsairs who never were short of courage although they often were over-matched in height.

Senior Guard Rod Whittier of Wildwood scored as game high 16 points to pace Carmel which led all the way.

Rodney Lambright, senior guard from Waukegan, and Carmel's junior pivot man from Libertyville, each had 10 points. George France, senior forward from Waukegan, had 10 points.

The Corsairs took Joliet out of the game with two intense defensive quarters, the second and third, out-scoring the Hilltoppers 28-14.

CLC Prepares For Tourney

With the Skyway Conference Championship wrapped up, the CLC men's basketball team has been preparing for Sectional Tournament action.

The Lancers finished regular-season play with a 13-0 mark in the Skyway Conference and 20-9 overall.

The first game of the sectionals, at CLC, will be at 7 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 27 (Elgin vs. Harper), with the Lancers taking on the winner Saturday, March 1, at 7 p.m. for the Sectionals crown.

Mustang Sophs Record Shows Improvement

More confidence and practice is what Mundelein sophomore basketball coach Chuck Gandolfi sees as the necessary ingredient to see team members go on to improving their game skills for next season.

Wrapping up this year's season, Gandolfi said he did see marked improvement over the team's performance last year, even if they did have a record of 4-20. In the North Suburban conference, the team was 3-15.

"Our goal has been to improve game by game, minute by minute," Gandolfi said. "I oad these guys as freshmen last year. Compared to last season, in our games this year we almost won a lot of the games we lost.

"We played competitively all year with the exception of Lake Forest and Crystal Lake South. They beat us pretty badly; we were creamed," Gandolfi said.

The sophomore team lost its top player, J.T. Mathwig, to the varsity team midway through the season. "The kids still did a nice job after that," the coach said.

In their effort to improve, Gandolfi said, they played teams that had previously given them a beating. "They were rarely out-rebounded. Considering our tallest player, Rob Porcelius, is only six feet, that's pretty good."

Leading scorers for the sophomores were Doug Sundell, averaging nine points a game, John Sidari, 10.4 points, and Porcelius, 10.2 points.

Sidari and Steve Hartman, were the team's two freshmen players. "Hopefully, they'll be back next year, but I think Sidari may play varsity," Gandolfi said.

Other players who were starters at some time during the season were Steve Quinn, Brian May and Mike May. Rounding out the team were Dave Mounce, Paul Matuszewski, Tracy Adams and Mike Tritthardt. Team manager was Brian Decker.

Hawks Win

The basketball phrase "One and The Bonus" was given a whole new meaning Feb. 24.

For Johnsbury's Chris Bonus, with the game on the line, sank two free throws with just under five minutes left gave Johnsbury a 41-39 lead over McHenry.

The Skyhawks held on to win the squeaker 48-47 over the rival Warriors. Johnsbury advanced to the semi-final round of the McHenry regional, against Crystal Lake South.

Coach Doug Hofmeister's Skyhawks dominated the game through three quarters.

Skyway Champs

The CLC men's basketball squad captured the Skyway Conference championship this year, with an undefeated 14-0 mark. The Lancers are now ready for sectional tournament action and will play the winner of the Elgin-Harper game for the tournament title on Saturday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m., on the Lancer's home court. Soph Bulldogs Show Improvement

Fritz Kaslausky, coach of the Grant Community High School Sophomore basketball team is pleased with his teams 11-3 season performance even though the Bulldogs only finished second in their conference this year.

Kaslausky said that the team performed better than anyone expected, considering that two of the highest scorers during the team's freshmen year were not with them this season. The team was undefeated in its freshmen year but got off to a slow start. They lost twice to the conference champs, the Marengo Indians, and at one point they were only a .500 team.

As the season progressed, Kaslausky said his team began to improve tremendously. The team averaged 46 points per game offensively and allowed an average of only 34 points per game. Kaslausky felt that all of his players were outstanding and that they worked well as a team.

The starters for the sophomore Bulldogs include 6'3" center Tony Cullota, who averaged 13 points and 8 rebounds per game, 6'1" forward John Wilhelm who averaged 8 points and 5 rebounds per game, 5'10" forward Dave Sparks who averaged 5 points and 5 rebounds per game, guard Ken Rasbid, who averaged 9 points per game, and guard Jim McGeever who averaged 5 points per game.

7 Area Wrestlers In State Tourney

by STEVE PETERSON

You can call them the "Super Seven".

For seven Lakeland area wrestlers, the season did not end at the McHenry sectional Feb. 21-22.

For the elite group, the season continues at the state tournament at Champaign Feb. 28-March 1.

Five teams will be represented at the meet: Grayslake, Round Lake, Mundelein, Grant and Antioch.

Mundelein's Norm Hays won the lone title for the group at 185 pounds. The top three finishers from each weight class qualify for state.

Keith Greca of Grayslake at 105 and Jim Wanhala of Grant at 185 finished second. Ralph Cardona of Round Lake was third at 112 and teammate Manuyl Mata was third at 119. Grant's Mike Hagen at 145 and heavyweight Bob Johnson of Antioch also finished third.

"He's peaking at the right time," Mundelein coach Dennis Szymkowiak said of Hays. "We're thinking very positively if he wrestles with the same intensity."

With his champion status, Hays has earned a first-round bye. He will face the winner of the Gene Goree (Cahokia)-Carl Wilkison (Joliet Central) match.

Hays come into the state tourney with a 20-1 overall record. Despite the impressive mark, Hays has had to overcome adversity this winter.

An injured knee kept him out of action for a little more than a month at mid-season.

"Just dedication and devotion. This is something he has been working for since he was a freshman," Szymkowiak said of the senior.

But to make the dream come true, Hays had to oust Wanhala, who had won a 4-3 win at the Lake County meet.

"We've been asked that a couple of times (what he did differently) but really it was just intensity," Szymkowiak said of the 10-4 win.

Hays advanced to the finals with a 16-7 win over Woodstock's Bruce Eddy and a 15-0 technical fall over Nate Johnson of Waukegan East.

Wanhala advanced by beating Grant Gabel of Crystal Lake Central and Matt Manzier of Rolling Meadows.

Greca lost his chance for a title when Wheeling's Kurt Vogt pinned him at 5:07.

"His goal was to get downstate, so he relaxed a little when he beat Durlacher," Grayslake coach Jerry Allen said.

Greca had topped Buffalo Grove's Dave Durlacher in a 5-4 win. He also beat Mike Lyon of Dundee-Crown 4-0 and Brian Morris of Deerfield 11-7.

Rams Finish Regular Season Play At 10-13

by DANG O'SHEA

The Grayslake Rams faced the Round Lake Panthers for the fourth time this week in regional tournament basketball play at Round Lake Senior High School after losing to them Feb. 21.

The winner of the Feb. 25 Grayslake-Round Lake meeting advances to the title game on Friday, Feb. 28. Grayslake won the regional last year at Antioch when it matched the same four teams.

Last week started off well for the Rams with a 49-43 win at Johnsburg in a Northwest Suburban Conference game. Rams Coach Greg Groth commented, "We played a very good game. Jeff West and John Kui were just outstanding off the boards."

West had 12 rebounds and Lui had 10. Bill Sangbusch followed up with seven and Drew Flood had six. Tom Castino led all scorers with 19 points and Sangbusch had 12.

Going into its final conference game and final home game against Round Lake, Groth felt the Rams would win. However, the Panthers came from behind to win 62-53. The game was highlighted by an 84-foot basket heaved by 6-7 Round Lake center Greg Kreitner as the buzzer ending the first half went off.

Kreitner was in a corner, almost out of bounds, when he threw the ball one-handed. It hit the rim of the basket at the other end of the court and went in. Grayslake athletic director Harold Jahnke corroborated the distance of the shot.

Grayslake led 28-23 at half-time. Groth was pleased with the way the Rams played. "Everybody played a good game, but we missed a few shots and made a few turnovers. Towards the end of the half we tried to slow the ball down. We made a few turnovers, so instead of being up by 11 at the end of the first half, we were only up by five."

The Rams had the lead until midway in the third quarter when the Panthers took over 41-39.

Castino led the Rams with 20 points, while Sangbusch and Kelly Bye had 12 each. Sangbusch had 17 rebounds, equalling his season high, and Flood had five.

Groth is very optimistic about the regionals. The Rams entered the first-round game with a 10-13 season record. They were 6-8 in conference play, finishing in fifth place.

Castino scored 325 points during the regular season, averaging 14.8. He has scored 83 points in the last four games for a 21-point average.

TIME OUT!

A Look At Sports Around
Lake County

By Joel Willberger

There is nothing worse than watching a $60 pair of basketball shoes trudge through the snow. Hey, isn't my new sweater out there also! It's nice to know that my son and I share ownership of everything I thought I owned.

Oh well, all is not lost—he's still growing. Just a few more inches and I'll have the couch back.

It sure would be nice to have the phone ring and have it be for me. I thought we were over that problem after the girls finished school.

A LOOK AROUND THE COUNTY:

IHSA Boys Basketball shifts into the tournament scene now that the regular season is over.

North Suburban champion Warren (16-2 conference and 20-5 overall) has to be the favorite in AA regional play at Libertyville this week.

In the Northwest Suburban, Marengo (12-2 conference, 22-4 overall) took the crown and has advanced to the sectionals at Byron in Class A action. Round Lake (10-4 conference and tied with Warren for the best overall record in the county at 20-5) will be hosting the AA regional this week.

Coach Bob Ward and his staff deserve a lot of credit in turning around the basketball program at Round Lake.

A LOOK BACK:

In 1976 the Antioch Sequoits (10-3) fell from the top spot in the Northwest Suburban as Woodstock (11-2) won the crown, defeating Grant in the final game of the year 58-56. The Sequoits neding a win against Stevenson for a share of the title, wound up on the short end of a 61-58 score.

This ended a two-year reign by the Sequoits who lost only once in 26 games. Over the past eight years, Antioch was a phenominal 80-15 in the NWSC. They had either won or tied for the title four times over that span.

The NWSC all conference team of 1976 included: Scott Kimball (18.2) Antioch, Kelley Harris (16.0) and Mark Cordes (16.8) Stevenosn, Nick Selchow (17.8) and Ron Genot (12.8) Woodstock, Kevin Kelly (16.6) Grant, Mark McClain (13.3) Grayslake, Jim Miott (14.5) Lake Zurich, Brian Sarff (14.0) Wauconda, Steve Sherwood (13.1) Cary Grove and Lee Neer (14.5) Round Lake.

In 1961 the Grayslake Inlanders (13.2) were the new champions of the Land O'Lakes Semi Pro Basketball League.

Members of the championship squad were Ray Domain, Dick Rendtorff, Eddie Bauer, Ray Vanderspool, Gale Peregrin, John Hook, Dave Jacobs, Bob Galvin, Bob Smith and Lloyd McRoy.

Some of the all stars in that league were: Denny Fruend and Don Sheehan, Wauconda; Loren Miller and Jack Arseneau, Richmond; Bob Neuman and Bill Grinnell, Fox Lake; and Jack Pregoner, Mike Haviland and Art Smejkal, Antioch.

Registration Set

Dug Out Park in Trevor, Wis. has set the dates for its summer league registrations.

On March 2, at 4 p.m., there will be a meeting for all softball teams.

Then on March 9, at 4 p.m., there will be registration for all volleyball teams.

The meetings will be held at Furlan's Dug Out Inn on Hwy. 83 in Trevor.

For more information, please call Tom Furlan at (414) 862-9936 or (312) 395-5788.

Warren Blue Devils Get 20 Victories

by STEVE PETERSON

It was circled in bright red on the statistical sheet for Warren Twp. High School's boys basketball team.

Twenty Wins.

The Blue Devils accomplished the feat with little time to spare - the last game of the regular season. The 51-44 win over Libertyville Feb. 18 gave North Suburban Conference champ Warren a 20-5 overall record, 16-2 in the league.

Warren's latest win was made possible because of stingy defense and a strong fourth quarter.

"The defense held us in there when the offense was struggling. We haven't been a spectacular team on defense, but we've been a strong defensive team. Coach Chimino (assistant coach Len) does a great job with the defense," Warren coach Darrel Bader said.

Warren center Al Davis led the fourth-quarter attack. Down by three at the outset, Warren outscored the Wildcats 26-15 over the last five minutes of the game.

With Warren trailing 29-26, Davis scored seven points on three inside layups and a free throw tied the game at 31 after two Libertyville hoops.

Davis finished with 11 points and 10 rebounds as Warren won a fierce rebounding battle, 27-26.

"Davis played a strong game for us. He came through when we needed it. He was playing with a very sore back. We iced it when we got over here and put a brace on it. We did not know if he would be able to play until warm-ups," Bader said.

After the 31-all tie two minutes into the fourth quarter, Warren ran off eight straight points on four free throws by Joel Elfering and buckets from Bob Bell and Brian Jarrell.

Elfering's two free throws with 3:24 made it 41-33 visitors. Elfering and Bell had 12 points while Jarrell led Warren with 15.

The way this one started, it appeared Libertyville was headed for its 14th straight win at home.

Libertyville's pressing defense and poor execution on offense held Warren without a field goal for five minutes. Two baskets from Bell made it 10-5 Libertyville after one.

An excellent defensive stand by WTHS in the second quarter allowed the Blue Devils to get back into the low-scoring game. Warren led 15-14 at halftime.

"In the first half we had 10 turnovers and no baskets off offensive rebounds. That's not us. In the second half we told them to play with more patience and get the ball inside," Bader said.

1986 Is Homecoming For State Of Tennessee

The State of Tennessee has earmarked 1986 as homecoming year. Elaborate plans are underway, says Gov. Lamar Alexander, who invites everyone to visit, or revisit Tennessee in 1986.

"It's part history lesson," he says, "part reunion and part good old-fashioned hoedown. This year will be an exciting celebration of family fun and recognition of American values...everyone is welcome."

Tennessee has long been a favorite tourist destination. The famous 2,100-mile Appalachian Trail touches 14 states, yet seems to have Tennessee as its best recognized host. Following the eastern state border, the most spectacular trail vistas peak in Smoky Mountain National Park where Clingman's Dome reaches 6,643 feet into the heavens. The Appalachian Trail is an unequalled pathway for exploration of eastern U.S. wilderness areas.

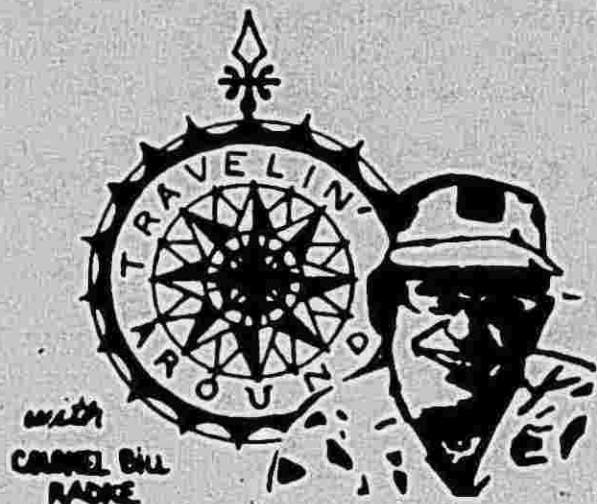

An hour or so from Smoky Mountain National Park, near Norris, Tenn., is the Museum of Appalachia. John Rice Irwin, its owner and operator, developed displays from collections made by his parents and himself. It contains a wide variety of equipment, tools and furnishings used by Tennessee mountain folk in the past 200 years.

As Irwin toured us through the authentic relocated buildings, he pointed out a group of rare farm animals called Fainting Goats. The small statured, spindly legged herd numbered a half dozen. "When frightened they stiffen up in alarm and fall prostrate on the ground...giving the appearance of being dead, sort of like 'playing possum,'" he explained.

Irwin's search into their origin has been unproductive, but Tennessee seems the dominant location for the few on record. Though thought by various owners to be of Asiatic background and imported early in the 1800's, they still remain mystery animals.

Don't suppose visitors will solve the fainting goat mystery, but touring the Appalachia Trail sector of Tennessee can be a very pleasant and interesting look at early Americana. More '86 Homecoming details may be obtained by writing to: Tennessee Tourism Dev., Rm. T, Box 23170, Nashville, Tenn. 37202, or phone (615) 741-7994.

Automotive travel is a growing and favorite mode for vacationers because it permits stop and stay at any selected location. Americans drove more miles in 1985 with greater safety, as national highway death rates dropped 1.5 percent. Illinois fatalities dropped to 1,531, a 2.6 improvement, but we still rank seventh highest in the nation.

This progress comes at a time when many folks are looking for new recreation vehicles at the ongoing Annual Chicagoland RV and Camper Show, located at O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont. 1986 Rvs feature safety and economy of operation, sparked by tumbling gasoline prices and lowered finance rates. Show opens weekdays at 3 p.m., Weekends at 11 a.m., and closes Sunday, March 2 at 6 p.m. Adult admissions are $5, and children under 13, $2.

Carmel Freshman Participates In Band

Cherise Sylvester, a freshman at Carmel High School for Girls, participated in the first All-Catholic Band concert at DePaul University.

Approximately 350 students from 30 schools auditioned for the band in December, students were selected and notified, and plans for the concert were made. Cherise was chosen to play the clarinet, receiving her concert music in advance of the Jan. 18 performance.

John Paynter from Northwestern University was the conductor for the day-long event. The students began the day with a three-hour rehearsal, followed by lunch and another three-hour practice.

After a short break, the 106 energetic student par-

Walworth Offers Seasonal Attractions

January and the ground hog's prediction of a waning winter are behind us. Walworth, one of Wisconsin's southernmost counties, offers seasonal outdoor and indoor attractions of unusual interest...only an hour or so distant and plenty of snow.

Combing man's artificial snow creations with the production of Mother Nature, generates an extended downhill skiing opportunity at four nearby locations. Food and housing is even easier to find in a county studded with exceptional lodgings and restaurants. All ski areas cater to beginners, provide rental equipment and elementary instructions. They offer chairlifts and ropeways to position the hill thrill seekers. Mildest slopes are the two at Interlaken Lodge, designed for beginners and intermediates. Americana, with 13 slopes, Majestic with nine and Alpine Valley's eight slopes provide beginner to advanced challenges.

All also have the apre-ski amenities of rooms, restaurants and crackling firesides for the pleasantly fatigued. The added ambience of swim or surge pools, sauna and recreational extras are widely available among resorts, as well as half a hundred Geneva Lakes Area motels, inns and lodges. These continue to offer economical winter rates...making the fun even greater.

Nine beginning points for cross country skiing instructions and groomed trails for use of rental or personal equipment. Bring ice skates, too, and sample from among five conditioned ice areas...some with lights to guide blades after dark.

Mark the calendar for Lake Geneva's Centennial Celebration, June 14-21. The century marking birthday party will overflow with family attractions, parades, music, fireworks, special menus and a variety of entertainment.

Details are contained in the Lake Geneva Area Winter Recreation Guide. Copies are available from Walworth County Tourism, Box 1007, Elkhorn, WI., 53121, or call the Geneva Lakes Area Visitors Bureau, 1-800-345-1020 for specifics.

Smoker Utilizes Fat More Than Non-Smoker

Question - Every time I stop smoking I gain weight. Is there a connection between diet and smoking?

Answer - We are finally able to answer the question of the diet and smoking connection.
In the last few years, research has demonstrated two involved factors.

A steady, consistent smoker appears to utilize fat faster than a non-smoker.
Therefore; when a smoker changes to non-smoking, they must also change their diet to a lower fat content. The dietary fat intake is often not altered and the total daily calorie intake is often increased.

Pat D's Nutrition Today

Pat DeAngelis is a nutrition consultant to American International Hospital, Zion.
Readers with questions about the food and liquid they consume are invited to address questions to Pat D's Nutrition Today, Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, Ill. 60030.

Statistics now show an average weight gain of 15 to 20 pounds when a smoker becomes a serious non-smoker. Severe cravings for a cigarette when a person decides to eliminate smoking are increased by the sudden decrease in blood nicotine level.

It has been said that rapid nicotine depletion can be altered by providing a high alkaline diet. A high alkaline diet emphasizes fruits and vegetables.

Foods, such as meat, grains, nuts, and dairy products produce an acid-ash after the digestion process and speeds up the elimination of nicotine from the body.
Nicotine is eliminated three times faster on a high acid diet than a high alkaline diet.

Slowing down nicotine elimination obviously is not a guarantee to successful withdrawal from nicotine addiction, however, preventing severe physical cravings can aid greatly in developing intelligent habit changes techniques. Some health professionals have added supplemental alkalizing agents to their stop-smoking programs.

In order to prevent weight gain after making the habit change, plan your meals around high vegetable (non-starchy type), high fiber (whole grain breads, cereals, and grains), moderate fruit, moderate protein (low fat meat and dairy products) and low fat (eliminate fried foods, limited butter, cheese, mayonnaise, and ice cream).

Chocolate and refined sugar products can also become addictive and certainly are high calorie items that can contribute to weight gain.

Part of the habit of smoking includes using your hands. Often food becomes a replacement for cigarettes and is greatly increased while changing habits.

If the increased food intake is in the form of vegetables, low fat nuts, and seeds, low sugar fruit, and activity expenditure is increased, the weight gain, if any at all, will be minimal.

Increasing your water intake, too, at least six 8 oz. glasses daily, will help flush out toxins, gradually eliminating undesirable nicotine, and help curb your appetite to aid in weight control.

Medical Center Adds 2nd Birthing Room

Construction is underway at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan on a second birthing room. According to Linda Geisler, assistant director of nursing,
the popularity of the original birthing room resulted in a need for the addition.

Expectant parents can experience the complete birth process, from labor to recovery, in the privacy and comfort of a cheerfully-decorated birthing room at St. Therese. There is no need to move from room to room as in the traditional labor and delivery setting.

The home-like decor of the special rooms include white Priscilla window curtains and soft blue ruffled bed-spread with matching rocker cushion, which were made by a medical center seamstress. All the furniture, including the special birthing bed, is wooded. The relaxing and peaceful atmosphere of the room is complimented by delicately-patterned wallpaper and floor covering.

In the birthing room, the father can participate in the labor and delivery and experience the bonding process from the moment of birth by touching and holding the newborn.

A sibling room is also being added which will permit brothers and sisters to visit with the mother and new infant in a safe environment instead of waiting until mom comes home.

The new additions are expected to be completed by the first week of March.

Expectant parents will find that classes to prepare them for the birth of their child are offered throughout the year at St. Therese Medical Center. For more information, contact the obstetrics department at (312) 360-2610.

Schedule Meat Seminar

Lake County residents are invited to attend a free seminar on "Managing Your Meat Dollars" on Saturday, March 1, from 12:30 to 4 p.m.
at the Waukegan Public Library, 128 N. County St.

The program will feature Joe Struder, co-owner of Harry Hansen Meat Service of Franksville, Wis., who will discuss how to buy beef, and Linda Stoxen of the Illinois Beef Auxiliary Board, who will demonstrate how to cook beef. Those attending will get to taste a new vacuum sealed beef roast developed by the University of Illinois and the Illinois Beef Council. The roast, which will be available to consumers, can be heated in the oven or microwave and will keep, unopened, in the refrigerator for two months. Stoxen and Struder will give tips on how to use leaner beef now appearing in markets.

Door prizes will be awarded at the conclusion of the program.

The seminar is being sponsored jointly by the Lake County Cooperative Extension Service and the Farm Bureau Woman's Committee. For more information, or to pre-register, call Barbara Dahl at (312)

YES, YOU CAN!

You may have seen many new satellite earth stations, or "dishes", installed in our area recently and asked yourself, "Are those dishes legal?" or, "Can I have one of those?" Well, happily the answer to both questions is YES. In 1984, the U.S. Congress approved home earth stations designed for the reception of satellite broadcasts. Not only are dishes legal to use, they are affordable, too. You can enjoy the freedom and wide variety of satellite television today.

Slates Seminar On Health Care Options

There is much confusion today about the need for additional health care insurance for people eligible for Medicare. The media is constantly bombarding those over 55 with dire predictions of catastrophic consequences if additional health insurance is not carried.

The wise consumer is right to question, "is additional insurance necessary?" and if so, what kind and how much? How do you compare insurance benefits?

Ron Hinkle, field representative for the Waukegan Social Security Administration office, will speak on "Selecting Health Care Options for People on Medicare," from 7 to 9 p.m., on Thursday, March 6 at the Lake County Cooperative Extension Auditorium, Rte. 45, Grayslake.

Hinkle will discuss health care options and how to choose a system that meets specific needs. He will also cover obtaining a second opinion, outpatient or inpatient surgery, participating or non-participating professionals and facilities and assignment or non-assignment. The presentation will be informal and questions will be welcome.

This free program is being sponsored by the Lake County Cooperative Extension Service. For more information, or to pre-register, call (312) 223-8627.

Cooperative Extension programs are open to all regardless of race, creed, sex or national origin.

Pet Of The Week

Eight-year-old Jimmy Schmehl who attends Grass Lake School, and Andrew, his little buddy, are practically inseparable. The golden retriever/beagle mix puppy was born while Jimmy was watching the Bears' football play-off. He was the last puppy in a litter of seven. Andrew's mom is owned by Jimmy's sister. Jimmy says he picked Andrew because he wanted a boy dog. "After the other puppies are sold," said Jimmy, "we will work hard to train Andrew." —Photo by Jody Lewand.

Litwiler, Geary Trade Barbs On Performance

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)
Dist. 4 County Board Rep.
Donna-Mae Litwiler of Ingleside is competing with Wauconda Village Clerk

Venita L. McConnel for Lake County Clerk in the March 18

primary. The GOP winner will oppose Democratic incumbent Linda Hess in the Nov. 6 general election.

Litwiler has disputed Lakeland Newspapers' claim that she has been an ineffectual member of the Lake County Board, serving as a political tool of Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Bab-cox.

Mrs. Litwiler conceded that she was a low profiled member at the regular county board sessions. She contended that she was active in the county board committee meetings where the legislation is drafted.

County Board Dist. 4 includes Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa Twp. Incumbent Norm Geary of Grayslake is the dean of the Dist. 4 Representatives with 21-years of service on the county board. Geary was chairman from 1976-78. He evaluated Litwiler's performance. In an exclusive statement to Lakeland Newspapers, Geary observed: "Litwiler's County Board record is terrible. She has yet to be to a meeting on time. If she is elected Lake County Clerk, she will have to hire someone to run the office."

Dist. 4 Rep. Donna-Mae Litwiler responded to Geary's allegations in a discussion with Lakeland

Newspapers. Litwiler admitted: "Yes, maybe, quite a few times, I'm late for committee meetings. But I'm usually in the (courthouse) building. I may get tied up with telephone calls.
As a County Board member, my record speaks for itself. I have a stack of letters from constituents praising my performance." Litwiler also asserted that Dist. 4 Rep.
Norm. Geary was an abrasive personality, who had alienated most of the county board members. She concluded: "Nobody makes him happy. He eventually takes off after everyone."

New DOE Fuel Pact To Save Customers

Commonwealth Edison customers will save approximately $50 million under a commitment the company has signed with the U.S. Dept. of Energy (DOE).
Under terms of the agreement, Edison will purchase the remaining 30 percent of its uranium fuel enrichment services requirements from 1991 through 1995 from DOE.

In July 1984, Edison contracted with DOE for the supply of 70 percent of the company's requirements through 2014 at a savings to Edison customers of more than $1 billion. The company later agreed to purchase the remaining 30 percent for the period 1987 through 1990.

The commitment means all of Edison's enrichment requirements will be produced in the United States from 1987 through 1995. The commitment covers all of Edison's nuclear units—nine presently in operation and three that will be in operation by 1988.

The $50 million savings represents the difference between the costs Edison expects to incur as a result of the new agreement and those the company would have incurred under the utility services contract signed in 1984. The new commitment came in response to a proposal by DOE and followed competitive bidding.

Edison is also eligible for additional savings, estimated at $4 million, through DOE's elimination of a previous charge for processing additional uranium which, in turn, produced additional waste materials.

Laboratories Receive Award

The laboratory at the St.
Theresa Medical Center, Waukegan, and the laboratory at the St. Theresa Area Trauma Satellite, Lake Villa, have been awarded a two-year accreditation by the Commission on Laboratory Accreditation of the College of American Pathologists (CAP), based on results of a recent on-site inspection.

John K. Duckworth, MD,
FCAP, chairman of the commission, advised Himani Dalia, MD, laboratory director, of this national recognition and congratulated her and her staff on the "excellence of services you are providing patients and their physicians."

The St. Theresa Medical Center and St. Theresa Area
Trauma Satellite are part of 3,600 CAP-accredited laboratories nationwide.

Begun in the early 1960s, the college's program was the first peer-review program for clinical laboratory accreditation.
Even before government agencies mandated it, pathologists voluntarily were inspecting and accrediting laboratories to maintain the highest quality laboratories possible.

Today the CAP
Laboratory Accreditation

Program is one of the few recognized by the federal government as requiring adherence to standards equal to or more stringent than the government's own.
The inspection itself is one of the most rigorous a laboratory can experience and may require up to a year of advance preparation by the laboratory staff.

The program uses unpaid but well-qualified volunteer pathologists, doctoral scientists, medical technologists, and pathology residents from college-accredited laboratories to inspect and evaluate laboratory services and provide unbiased consulting services to the laboratory. Each inspection team is headed by a board-certified pathologist with specialized training in the inspection process.

The inspectors examine the records and quality control of the laboratory for the preceding two years, as well as the education and qualifications of the total staff, the adequacy of the facilities, the equipment, laboratory safety and laboratory management to determine how well the laboratory is serving the patient.

Program Aids Businesses

by DEVON NELSON

A new program to assist Lake County's small business community in its day to day operations will soon be underway.

Through the Small Business Development Center Program (SBDC), new and existing businesses will be able to rely on local expertise to assist them in their planning and developing of sound business practices.

SBDC, which is to be located in the College of Lake County's (CLC) Center for Economic Development is a joint project of local chambers of commerce, Lake County Planning Department (LCPD), Lake County Community Action Project (LCCAP) and the Lake County Urban League (LCUA).

Under the program, area business can receive assistance in business planning, product and market analysis, management principals, financing and in other areas pertinent to a particular businesses operation.

Russ Hamm, director of CLC's Center For Economic Development, said he anticipates the program to be in swing by early March.

According to Hamm, all that is needed to launch the program is a full-time director to staff the center.

In December of 1985 Lake County received a $50,000 matching grant from the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) to help finance the opening of the center.

As part of the program, the SBDC will be providing businesses with a market analysis of the county and identifying markets where the highest potential for businesses exist.

The SBDC will also be evaluating business owners on their knowledge of running a successful small business operation.

Once a person has been assessed, SBDC will make recommendations in areas where a business owner may need additional expertise.

Although no cost is required to obtain services of SBDC, a nominal fee may be charged for workshop or seminar attendance.

Hamm says he anticipates the center to be quite to be a definite asset to the business community because receives calls from the business community.

Expert discusses pros and cons of stress and how to cope

"Absence of stress is absence of life," said Ellen Rich, L.S.N., a certified family nurse practitioner at the Clinical Practice Unit of Pace University's Lienhard School of Nursing in Pleasantville, N.Y.

"Temporary stress helps us to grow, to achieve goals, for instance. But too much stress can manifest itself in physical and psychological disorders."

At a February workshop dealing with stress she explained the differences between acute and chronic stress, natural and self-induced stress, the physical and psychological reactions that people may have, and offered means of reducing stress and ways of relaxing.

"Stressors are acting on us at every moment," she said. The amount of stress, both natural and self-induced, and the way we handle it determine how we will be affected.

Natural stress includes things beyond our immediate control, she explained, such as noise, extreme temperature changes, pollen and pollution.

Another type of stress beyond our control is associated stress. A person who has lost a loved one in an airplane crash, for instance, may experience stressful reactions when learning that someone else they care for will be traveling by air.

"It may come as a surprise that even happy occasions or events in our lives cause stress," she added. According to a home stress scale created several years ago, marriage, vacations, Christmas or the addition of a new family member — all positive events — nonetheless cause stress.

Stressors that we set up for ourselves might include the inability to say "no," or always saying "yes" to friends or people we work with for fear that they won't like us if we don't do as they ask.

Anticipated stress comes from worrying about a forthcoming event, such as a job interview. A false belief system: "If I don't accomplish all of my goals, I must not be worth very much," also causes stress. A pessimistic attitude can create undue and unnecessary stress in our lives, as well, she said.

We may experience "acute" or "chronic" stress. "Our response to acute stress is basic to our species," said Ms. Rich.

"It is also known as 'the fight or flight syndrome' and usually occurs when we are in a dangerous or life threatening situation. You experience some form of acute stress when you nearly miss an accident while driving, or almost fall."

The body's response to acute stress is a rush of adrenalin, perspiring or pounding heart, or a combination of these. This indicates that the body is gearing up the organs needed and shutting down those not needed to cope with dangerous situations.

An increased heart rate transfers blood to the brain and muscles, the pupils dilate for better sight, the bronchi open for easier breathing, and the liver releases sugar for immediate energy.

Blood platelets, necessary for clotting, become more sticky in case there is injury. The digestive process is slowed down.

Chronic stress creates sustained bodily reaction to situations perceived to be real threats. This type of stress may be caused by financial pressures, marital or family problems, loss of sleep, malnutrition, difficulties on the job, overcrowding and rapid changes in our lives.

Physical manifestations of stress include tension or migraine headaches, nausea, ulcers, muscle aches, insomnia, fatigue and hives.

Psychological symptoms include irritability, restlessness, poor concentration, inability to think rationally, insecurity, crying spells, increased or decreased consumption of food and, in extreme cases, mental illness.

"You have to learn to listen to your body, physically and emotionally. You have to learn to relax," said Ms. Rich. Each person has a particular stress center where tension can build. There are exercises to relieve tension in specific areas.

"You should feel peaceful and be enjoying life. Look at your interactions with your family or those closest to you. They are usually the first to suffer from the stress you are feeling," she added.

Techniques of coping with stress are many and include time management, problem solving, talking something out with a friend, and prioritizing.

"If you can't change a situation that is causing stress in your life, accept it and make the best out of it. Always look for the positive," she advises.

Other ways to battle stress include exercise, which improves the body's use of oxygen and energy, muscle tone, posture and has a known effect on depression.

Be sure you get adequate nutrition. Eliminate smoking, alcohol and recreational or prescription drugs. Decrease your intake of fats and salts, because these increase the risk of high blood pressure.

Balance your time with other time alone, she advised. "It's important that you spend at least 15 minutes a day doing something that you enjoy, from a crossword puzzle to taking a drive."

"Do something that you like, something that makes you happy. And try to laugh as much as possible."

New fabric provides stretch

Athletes and fitness buffs who like a sleek look in their gear now have another reason for adopting those gleaming tights that look like second skin: They offer insulation without bulk for greater all-weather comfort and with no inhibiting effects on performance.

Skiers, joggers runners, sports team members ranging from rank amateurs to Olympians and professional baseball players are wearing the Hind "Sportights™" because they keep legs warm without overheating after the first few miles.

The fabric has what is known technically as a flat stress-strain curve, so it won't constrict or constrain, but will continue to fit comfortably whatever the action.

Fitness leads revolution

Aerobic conditioning is dramatically improving the health and fitness lifestyles of millions of Americans, and the surprising leader of this quiet, sweeping revolution is walking.

More than 55 million Americans walk as their primary exercise, according to a report released by the National Park Service, making it one of the most popular participant sports in the country.

The U.S. Census Bureau also reports that walking is the country's number one activity/exercise. Currently, walkers outnumber joggers and runners combined by a three to one margin, and the growing number of walkers is expected to soar to 80 million in five years.

"Fitness walking" is a term coined to describe walking for exercise and as a major component of a total fitness program. Medical studies have proven that fitness walking can be as beneficial as any other form of aerobic conditioning. In fact, many authorities will attest that walking is the safest form of exercise.

"Until recently, fitness walking has been neglected as a subject of study by the medical community, yet it is an excellent way of improving cardiovascular health," says Dr. James Rippe, cardiologist and clinical director of the University of Massachusetts Medical School's Center for Health, Fitness and Human Performance.

"For most people, walking is the best form of aerobic exercise. It is excellent for the heart and peripheral blood vessels and can easily be incorporated into a weight loss program. Studies show that walkers are less likely to injure themselves than runners and that walking provides many mental health benefits as well. Walking is universal for all age groups."

Begin slowly

According to Dr. Rippe, any fitness walking program should begin slowly and only after checking with your physician. You should exercise for at least 20 to 30 minutes three times a week — with your heart rate between 70 and 80 percent of the predicted maximum. (Your predicted maximum is approximately 220 minus your age.)

Lose weight and stay lean with fitness walking as part of your program. "You burn the same 100 calories by walking a mile that you would running a mile," explains Dr. Rippe. "If you increase your walking rate to 4 mph (from a normal 3 mph) you can burn 300 calories in 45 minutes."

Dr. Rippe is directing extensive cardiovascular and pulmonary functions research on 37-year-old Rob Sweetgall who has been dubbed "America's Walkman." Sweetgall is walking 11,600 miles through all 50 states in 50 weeks at an average rate of 32 miles a day.

As the nation's leading "fitness walker," Rob's devotion to the longest solo trek in history stems from losing his father and three close family members to heart disease. As an ex-marathon runner, Rob has determined that walking is the best exercise to achieve cardiovascular health.

Rob is also testing various shoes designed specifically for "fitness walking" by The Rockport Company, which is sponsoring Rob's odyssey.

Rockport is a pioneer in the development of lightweight comfort shoes, especially for walking, and the first footwear manufacturer ever to receive the Seal of Acceptance from the American Podiatric Medical Association. The company's latest innovation is the ProWalker, the only shoe biomechanically designed for the serious "fitness walker."

Comfortable shoes essential

Even podiatrists will agree that walking is good for you and your feet — if you are wearing comfortable, well-fitting shoes with the proper support.

Podiatrists estimate that seven out of 10 children and eight out of every 10 adults have a complaint of one type or another about their feet, ranging from minor aches to severe defects. At the very least, 50 percent of those problems are caused by improper or ill-fitting shoes.

Many manufacturers promote their running shoes as ideal for walking despite the fact that running and walking are two different gait functions.

The basic features of the ideal walking shoe include a well-defined rocker profile to encourage the roll of the foot and aid in the natural walking motion.

Teachers, parents and students to take active interest

For years children have been bringing report cards home to show their parents how they are doing in school. Typically, they are graded on the "Three R's"—reading, writing and arithmetic.

This year will be different. Children across the country will be bringing home another kind of card—a FITNESSGRAM. This unique new computerized "report card" will tell parents how their children stand in terms of fitness.

Approximately 10 million children will bring home FITNESSGRAMs this year, thanks to an agreement signed recently by Campbell Soup Company and the Dallas-based Institute for Aerobics Research (IAR).

FITNESSGRAM starts with a series of tests designed to measure endurance, strength and flexibility, developed by the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (AAHPERD).

At least once a year, youngsters will be given tests such as sit-ups, flexed-arm hang or pull-ups, shuttle run, standing long jump and sit-and-reach. Teachers will enter results into a computer—An Apple IIe microcomputer if the school has one, or IAR's mainframe in Dallas—and print out FITNESSGRAMs for each student.

Parents will receive the FITNESSGRAMs directly from schools and be able to compare their children's scores to the national averages for students the same age. One exciting feature of the program is a personalized "exercise prescription" or message to the student on how to improve individual scores.

Other information provided on the FITNESSGRAM includes:

- A total physical fitness score;
- A percentile rank for each test item computed on national norms developed over the past 20 years;
- Reflections of a child's past performances to monitor improvement from test date to test date.

"FITNESSGRAMs are prescriptions for individual improvement and, thereby, for improving the national condition of youth fitness," said Dr. Ken Cooper, IAR's founder and renowned expert in aerobic fitness. "Campbell's sponsorship is a major positive step towards creating a national culture dedicated to the well-being of America's youth."

Campbell sponsored the first pilot test of the FITNESSGRAM program in Tulsa, Oklahoma, in 1982 and subsequent tests in the state of Oklahoma and nationwide in the past two years. In the upcoming school year, Campbell's sponsorship will provide schools with free FITNESSGRAM software and blank FITNESSGRAM cards.

"We're proud to support the national rollout of the FITNESSGRAM program, the first and only program of its kind," said R. Gordon McGovern, President and C.E.O. of Campbell Soup Company. "Campbell has had a long history of support for programs designed to improve the overall well-being of Americans."

"We have heard more loudly and clearly than ever before that the fitness of our nation's youth is deteriorating," McGovern said. "A variety of factors is contributing to the problem: Poor eating habits, decreasing interest in sports, elimination of some physical education programs, and an increasing focus by youngsters on sedentary pursuits to the exclusion of exercise. FITNESSGRAM is one step we can take to start reversing the trend."

The FITNESSGRAM program is presented by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports and will be publicized to schools through state education agencies and AAHPERD publications.

For school participation information, teachers and school administrators can contact the Institute for Aerobics Research, 12200 Preston Road, Dallas, TX 75230.

Armchair tennis helps players to improve their game at home

It's now possible to improve your tennis without leaving your own living room.

Simply by popping a videocassette into your video recorder, you bring Vic Braden or Stan Smith into your home to teach you to play better. You can learn Quick Cures for Tennis Problems (Braden) or Neuro-Muscular Programming for Tennis (Smith) as well as more esoteric subjects from well-known players and coaches.

These televised tennis lessons are effective, but not cheap, ranging in price from $49.95 for the Fundamentals version of Play Your Best Tennis to $69.95 for either Smith's or Braden's tape.

While most videotapes focus on the physical aspects of tennis, a recent release called Mental Toughness helps players become better competitors through psychological conditioning.

Featuring Dr. Jim Loehr, sports psychologist and a contributing editor of World Tennis magazine, Mental Toughness provides useful tips on topics such as pace, rituals and projecting a confident fighter image. There is even a section on proper breathing which shows that the loud grunt many top pros emit actually works.

Most tennis videos are available at video stores or tennis pro shops. For more information about Mental Toughness, write to Peak Performance, Inc., Box 2829, Duxbury, MA 02332.

The heat is on: A survival guide to beauty routines

Summertime, and the living is easy, or so we'd like to think. The weather is warmer, we're spending more time outdoors, exercising more, and, in general, enjoying summer's natural benefits.

Looking and feeling better than ever is an important bonus. But not if you assume that just because it's summer you can be carefree and neglect your beauty basics. The truth is that skimping on essentials — like taking good care of your skin, drinking plenty of water, and getting enough sleep — can take its toll on your looks.

Of course, no one wants to spend extra hours primping and pampering, but it is a good idea now to adjust your skin and hair-care routines to account for the changes in the weather, and in your lifestyle.

The higher temperatures and higher humidity mean that you'll perspire more, and your skin and scalp may feel oilier than it normally does.

At the same time, your skin and hair are being exposed to the damaging rays of sun, the dehydrating effects of the summer wind, air conditioning, salt water and chlorine.

It is a good time to rethink and reorganize your basic routines and pare down on the number of steps in your summer beauty regimen. Try following some of these skin, hair and body strategies:

Face up to it

Fresh air, sunshine and exercise bring the color back into everyone's face. That's nice, especially after emerging from winter with your "winter-white" complexion!

The by-word now, as always, is that glowing skin starts with something as simple as clean skin. Regular cleansing is always important, but it's particularly so during the summer months when you're perspiring more, and when excess oil buildup can clog pores and make skin dull.

You might want to add exfoliating to your cleansing routine. Using a gentle abrasive sponge, facial scrub or mask will help get rid of dead, dried-out surface cells that are making your skin look dull.

There's a new one out this summer from Borghese. It's called Hydro-Minerali Revitalizing Scrub, and it gently removes those dry flakes on your skin's surface, leaving it smooth, refined and clear and bright-looking.

Alternate with your regular cleanser or try its companion gel Hydro-Minerali Revitalizing Cleansing Treatment. And don't worry about it scrubbing off your tan — it removes only the dried surface, and re-creates your tan instead!

You may also want to switch to a lighter moisturizer now. And, use a light powder translucent to blot excess oil and help avoid the "shiny face" look.

Minimal makeup that stays put

Some good warm weather makeup tips: The best and easiest way to look natural is to choose makeup colors that work with your own natural coloring. They will be the most flattering and require the least amount of fussing.

To accent your healthy summer glow, choose a light, water-based foundation. You may find that you can even go without if you've got enough natural color. Steer clear of oil-based products now unless your skin is extremely dry.

Higher temperatures and humidity just naturally mean your skin's oil-production is increased. Adding more oil can lead to clogged pores.

Use a lightly bronzed shimmery powder like Ultima II's Day In The Sun to light up your face. Dust it over your face wherever the sun would blush you naturally — high on your cheekbones, on your temples, around the hairline, and even across the bridge of your nose!

If you have a problem with eye makeup that creases, put a primer on your lids and then go for a powdered eye shadow instead of a cream, or choose a shadow that's waterproof or water-resistant.

Look for a waterproof mascara, too. Ultima II's Advanced Formula is a good one that's formulated to be non-irritating for extra-sensitive eyes (and women who wear contact lenses).

For the finishing touch, all you need is a touch of sheer color on the mouth in face-flattering tones like pink, mauve or mocha. Top it off with a bit of gloss like Revlon's Glossé Lipshine.

And remember, whatever colors you do choose — bold and bright or soft and natural — blending well is the key to natural-looking makeup.

Summer wardrobes are meant to show off more of your body — bared backs, more arms, more legs. You've worked hard all winter exercising and toning up your body muscles, so now that you've got the body you want, flaunt it!

Smooth your skin all over with a loofah sponge, or an all-over body sloughing cream. A good one to try is Terme di Montecatini's Stimulating Body Refiner, a refreshing apricot-color gel that gently sloughs off flaky, dead skin cells and gives skin a smooth and silky look and feel.

While your skin's still damp, apply a super-emollient scented or unscented moisturizer. You don't need the same strength you used this winter, but do use a moisturizer that penetrates immediately.

Dust your body with some cornstarch-based baby powder (it absorbs moisture) or your favorite after-bath dusting powder.

Then, just a spray of cool cologne straight from the fridge.

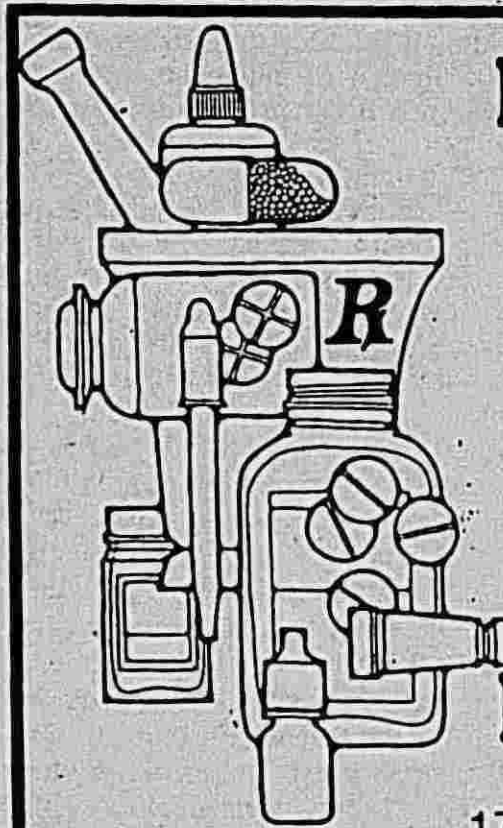

Nail and hair care

During the summer you don't want to spend weekend or after-work hours fussing with your hair. By all means, choose an easy-care hair cut.

A slightly layered look holds its shape better in the heat than a blunt one. You do have to compensate for the effects of warm weather activities. Sun, salt and chlorine makes dry hair drier, so the by-word is protection.

To keep the shine in, wear a bathing cap when you swim and a hat when you're out in the sun.

Oily hair tends to get oilier in the summer. Adjust your hair care routine — try switching from your regular shampoo to a lighter one. Use a conditioner, but in moderation. Overconditioning may result in dull, lifeless-looking hair.

Miracles Can Happen With Physical Therapy

Did you know miracles can happen for people who are physically impaired? Check out the Physical Therapy Dept. at American International Hospital (AIH), and you'll see why.

Physical therapy at AIH is provided by Northern Illinois Physical Therapy Services (NIPTS) and is located right next to the Emergency Room on the ground floor. About 25 percent of the physical therapy patients at AIH are outpatients, while the other 75 percent are patients in the hospital. Four registered physical therapists and eight physical therapy aides work with stroke victims, oncology patients, cardiac patients, accident victims, sports-related injury patients, neurological cases, and chronic pain cases—among others.

Physical therapy can be a miracle in the life of a person who needs it. The practitioners of this dynamic health care profession are skilled in planning, organizing and directing programs for the care of patients of all ages who are disabled by accident or illness, or were born with a handicap.

Joseph Yao, president of NIPTS, is a registered physical therapist who earned his degree at the University of Iowa, Iowa City. He has a Certificate of Acupuncture from the China Medical College in Taiwan and is the author of "Acupuncture," a book dealing with Acupuncture, T.E.N.S., and Acupressure.

Yao has taught post graduate seminars in Acupuncture at Duke University, University of Iowa, Chicago Medical School, Northwestern University, and Marquette University, to name a few.

Yao is listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest" and "Who's Who in the World." In addition to his credits, his soft spoken manner and gentle approach make him a patient pleaser. "It's not how smart you are that makes you a good physical therapist," Yao says, "but how well you can make your patients respond to you."

Department head Raul Agustin is a graduate of the University of the Philippines in Manila and has a B.S. in physical therapy. He runs a "tight ship" and sees to it that all patients' treatments meet the highest standards.

Physical therapy aides at AIH are trained by Agustin and Yao. They must go through a six-month training period in which they learn how to assist the physical therapists. Some of the physical therapy aides have earned associate degrees in physical therapy. The department encourages continuing education for the entire staff.

"First and foremost," says Yao, "we must deal with the patients. We must relate to them, and then they in turn will cooperate with us and the techniques we use on them."

Several modalities are used to relieve patients' pain and restore muscle strength. A stroke victim, for example, usually goes through a number of phases on his way to recovery. In Phase I (passive) there is little muscle strength (meaning a patient may look paralyzed but does have some muscle strength). In this stage, a physical therapist, with the help of a physician, evaluates the disability, identifies the problem as either objective (dealing with movement) or subjective (dealing with pain) and develops a goal on which to base treatment patterns to help restore full function.

In Phase II (assistance) the patient can move partially with the help of a physical therapist, while in Phase III (resistance) the patient can move and the objective of the physical therapist is to develop the patient's muscle coordination. P.T. is an important member on the victim's recovery team.

Stroke victims are usually the most severe cases brought to physical therapy, while broken arms are probably the least severe, since they require basic muscle strengthening. "The largest cross section of our physical therapy patients are those who suffer from neck and low back problems," said Agustin. "We also work with oncology patients, setting up basic exercise programs for them. We coordinate our treatments with the dietary department when dealing with hyperalimentation."

The fitness wave throughout the country has not had a large effect on AIH's Physical Therapy Dept., although sports-related injuries from high school football and basketball do increase at the hospital during the playing seasons.

AIH's Physical Therapy Dept. prides itself on the camaraderie displayed within the department. "We work harmoniously within our department and also with other departments. It's important because we work closely with them," says Yao.

The AIH Physical Therapy Dept. is very busy, with services available seven days a week. They are open Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., and on weekends with a 24-hour emergency call service.

STATS Provides Emergency Care

St. Therese Area Trauma Satellite (STATS) is an emergency care center which offers the same treatment facilities as those in a hospital emergency department.

Located in Lake Villa, STATS is staffed by physicians of the Northern Illinois Emergency Physicians group who are specially trained in emergency medicine.

Open daily from 8 a.m. to midnight, STATS is equipped with its own laboratory and X-ray departments, and also offers poison control information.

In any emergency, whether it be a minor injury or illness, or a major trauma, professional treatment and compassionate care is provided at the satellite facility in Lake Villa, as well as at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan, the Area-wide Trauma Center for Lake County.

Hospital Detects Cancer With Mammograms

For the convenience of Lake County area residents, St. Therese Medical Center and its satellite facility in Lake Villa now offer mammograms Monday through Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The center recently added two mammography units to aid in the detection and diagnosis of breast cancer and other diseases. The test can detect a breast lump so small that it cannot be felt.

The mammogram is a simple and painless procedure which requires no special preparation or hospitalization. Procedures are performed by a female technologist in the privacy and comfort of a special radiology examination room.

Test results are reported to the patient's physician by one of the medical center's radiologists.

Tests require a doctor's referral and are performed by appointment only Monday through Saturday. Women who do not have a personal physician may call St. Therese Medical Center's physician referral service at (312) 360-2555.

The Bottom-Line IRA

We Dare Other IRAs To Beat It!

A lot of IRAs offered today look mighty tempting. But when the smokescreen of bonuses and gimmicks has cleared and all the horns and whistles have stopped blowing, the only important thing is the bottom line... the amount your IRA will be worth at maturity. You will be surprised at how those gimmicks disguise a low yield. We've checked our competition on IRAs carefully. The "bottom line" is that most of them can't top the high yields of Skokie Federal IRAs...pure and simple.

At current rates, a deposit of $2,000 in our 3-year IRA would yield a tax-deferred $2,598 at maturity. The same contribution to our 5-Year IRA would yield a tax-deferred $3,212. We think you should check the "bottom line" wherever you open your IRA. Give us a call or stop in for actual comparisons...or call our competition. You'll find you are further ahead with the Bottom-Line IRA from Skokie Federal.

Term	Annual Rate %	Annual Yield %	$ Yield at Maturity*
3 Year	8.60	9.11	$2,598
5 Year IRA	9.35	9.94	$3,212

11 Departments Fight Off Blaze

by CHARLES JOHNSTON

A 5-alarm fire destroyed the historic 2-story Brass Wheel Restaurant in downtown Round Lake Feb. 24 and left eight men homeless.

Although no official word was available from fire department officials, bartender Jan Redner said the fire began around 2:30 p.m. According to Redner, owner Tony Scardino had just put a bowl of French Onion Soup under the broiler to brown the cheese. He stepped into the bar (which adjoins the kitchen) to say something to a customer. When he turned to step back into the kitchen the broiler was on fire. Scardino grabbed a wet towel and, with the help of a customer, tried unsuccessfully to extinguish the blaze.

Meantime, the hood (automatic extinguishing system) had not started. By the time the hood did start, the fire had gotten up into the vents and caught in the heavily wooded second floor.

According to Redner, just minutes before Scardino put the soup in the broiler, an unfamiliar man walked into the restaurant; asked if anyone knew the number to the fire department; got the number from Scardino; went to the pay phone to make a call; and then left.

Although this is the way the fire appeared to start to observers in the restaurant, it seems more likely that the fire actually started upstairs and was already well advanced before anything downstairs was noticed. This would explain three pieces of evidence that do not seem to fit.

First, the hood system is very sensitive and had reportedly just recently undergone a standard 6-month check. Had the fire begun in the broiler, the heat build-up would have caused the hood to start well before the blaze could have gotten into the vents. If, however, the fire began upstairs and jumped down to the broiler like a flame to a candle, then it would take some time for the heat below to build up sufficiently to activate the hood.

Second, within moments after the fire was discovered downstairs, thick white smoke was billowing out of the upstairs windows. It takes time for a fire to build up to that point. It only makes sense if the fire had already started upstairs.

Finally, the episode with the "mystery man" makes some sense if smoke was coming out of an upstairs window before anything happened downstairs. Of course, it still does not make sense that the "mystery man" would not bother to mention to employees that the building was on fire.

After seeming to come under control in the first hour, the blaze suddenly flared back up at about 3:30 p.m. Ten additional fire departments then responded to assist Round Lake in fighting the blaze.

Although no official estimate has been given, damages are expected to approach a half million dollars. Fortunately, no one was killed. The only reported injury was to owner Tony Scardino, whose hands were burned in his efforts to extinguish the fire. Surrounding buildings suffered only water damage.

This is the second major fire in the Round Lake area since former fire chief Ed Glower resigned Jan. 25. The first fire, which occurred Feb. 14, killed two children. Fire officials are still investigating the cause of that Hainesville fire.

The Round Lake area didn't just lose a restaurant Feb. 24, but it lost a historic and very special gathering place.

Many special events have occurred within the walls of the Brass Wheel throughout its existence.

The building was originally known as Amann Hall, which was one of the most popular gathering places in west Lake County. Many public dances were held at Amann Hall until the late 1940's.

The building can also be associated with food. Tony Scardino and his family established a food shop and confectionary on the corner of Cedar Lake Rd. and Rte. 134 in the early 1950's, later expanding to its present quarters with a lounge and restaurant in the 1960's.

It's a historical fact that famous comedian Jack Benny got his start in Amann Hall playing the violin for dances as a teenage member of the Hapke family during the pre-World War I era.

Eleven fire departments couldn't save this historical building from the fierce fire. Fire departments from Grayslake, Wauconda, Fox Lake, Antioch, Lake Villa, Lake Zurich, Long Grove, Vernon Hills, Countryside and Gurnee all assisted Round Lake in trying to save the Brass Wheel, but the blaze was too much.

One has to wonder what additional historical events might have occurred in this building had firefighters been able to save it.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Some situations start to simmer; others come to a boil. Handle the most volatile first; the others will prove easier to deal with. Keep a cool head.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) You're going to have to do some deeper digging into your usually well-developed memory bank to be sure you recall all details that pertain to a newly revived event.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Avoid being stung by an ill-prepared approach to a new challenge. Become a busy "Be!" Be wary. Be sure. Be up on all the facts available to you.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 20) Explore more. Dig more deeply. Many hidden facts lie waiting to be uncovered. Resist the impulse to merely skim the surface or you may find you're a victim of a scam.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) The temptation to start from scratch is strong, but there are lingering situations you must deal with. Don't ignore anything that may prove important in the future.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sept. 22) An acquaintance leaves a curious message for you. Don't get upset. Instead, set out to get the facts. Avoid reacting on a purely emotional level.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) The operative word at this time is construction. Build on existing relationships. Look for new friendships to come out of new situations.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) The battle of the sexes could be heating up. Heartwarming feelings turning into hot anger can shrivel a relationship. Turn down the thermostat.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Cooperation increases between you and your co-workers. Together you can achieve the goals you've set. At home, the same sense of togetherness prevails.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The chances for changing your plans at this time depend on how quickly you can act. Contact everyone involved and be candid with your reasons.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Fitness is the key to success in all areas at this time. Feel your best so you can do your best in each new effort you face. Progress is favored.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Watch your health more carefully than you have of late. Don't let an easily corrected problem get out of hand. Care for yourself because others are for you too.
